The Rosenbergs; Sacco-Vanzetti

When the Rosenbergs died for their traitorous crimes, their names almost invariably were associated in news comments with those of two men, long dead and mouldering in their graves since Aug. 23, 1927—Nicola Sacco and Batholomeo Vanzetti.

Not since the trial, and the execution of those two men in the state of Massachusetts, has there been such a trial until the Rosenbergs came along with their crime to blacken the name of loyalty and to darken the skies with enemy threat of atomic death made earlier possible by their treason.

There was much about the cases which were similar—but there was, and is, much that is dissimilar. They are alike in that Sacco and Vanzetti were radical (some said anarchists), and Ethel and Julius Rosenberg were Communists—the present-day bogey, as anarchists were in the 20's. There is a kinship, too, in that the Rosenberg case aroused many, who hate communism, to request clemency in the name of justice and humanity. Sacco and Vanzetti attracted to their side many of great conservatism who were convinced the state of Massachusetts was, in effect, legally lynching two innocent men.

Short Shrift

But, really, the Rosenbergs were given short shrift in comparison. In the first place, they were tied in too closely with their crimes by the black ropes of bloody guilt. Secondly, they had been caught in a time of great international emotion and fear of sudden, consuming death. They had handed over to the enemy certain details of atomic weapons which made it easier to bring them into being and to hang them, like a great, growing tornado, dark and terrible, in the international skies.

Six years intervened between the conviction and death of Sacco and Vanzetti, as against but a little more than two for the Rosenbergs. At the basis of both cases was a "Red" scare. But, the two in Massachusetts were charged merely with murder, and today we would not fear the Reds so much if they could not come bearing atomic bombs.

And for Sacco and Vanzetti great and prominent jurists arose to fight, as did leaders of education, the church, and the professions. The quiet, shy poetess, Edna St. Vincent Millay wrote a bitter accusing poem: "Justice Denied in Massachusetts."

It began as routine crime. On April 15, 1920, in broad daylight in Braintree, Mass., the pay master and guard of a shoe factory payroll were killed and the money stolen by two who escaped with accomplices.

Conviction

On May 5, 1920, Sacco and Vanzetti, both armed with pistols, were arrested on a street car. They were convicted on evidence which, while convincing, was disputed by other evidence strong enough to cause many to believe that, had the two men not been admitted radicals, anarchists (who believe there should be no organized government) they would not have been convicted. Both men denied guilt to the end. The world, especially all organized labor, was aroused. The conduct of the presiding judge (Thayer) was criticized by an investigating committee appointed by the governor for "a grave breach of judicial decorum, for expressing personal opinions outside the courtroom." But the conviction was upheld.

There followed riots in the larger cities of the East, in Europe and South America. There were threats against the President (Coolidge) and his guard was increased.

Vanzetti forgave his enemies in the chair. Sacco was sullen and bitter, crying out in Italian, "Long live anarchy!"

Most of the evidence pointed to their guilt. They died martyrs because of Judge Thayer's arrogant handling of the case. We will, when we grow calmer, thank Justice Douglas for his thoroughness which stripped from the Rosenbergs the last real chance at martyrdom.

Clark in Korea For Showdown With ROK Chief

By RUTHERFORD POATS

DEMANDS SHOWDOWN
Gen. Mark W. Clark

Clark, it was understood, will ask Rhee to declare immediately whether South Korean troops are still under the United Nations command, or whether they are no longer bound by Rhee's 1950 agreement with the Allies.

Clark's plane landed at an airport near Seoul. He led a United Nations delegation to the presidential mansion shortly after Prime Minister Paik Too Chin arrived from Washington for a report to Rhee on his talk with President Eisenhower. Paik also talked with Clark earlier in Tokyo.

RECEIVES ANOTHER LETTER

Clark told newsmen on his arrival that he had received another letter from Rhee this morning, a few hours before he took off from Tokyo, but that any comment on the letter would have to come from Rhee or Mr. Eisenhower.

Clark said he had heard "reports" that Rhee planned to withdraw his forces, but had no comment to make on them.

Informants said Clark was in Korea to "lay it on the line" for the South Korean president and ask him to make it clear now whether his troops were in or out of the Untied Nations command created to save South Korea from Communist aggression.

NEW BREAKOUT ATTEMPTS

Clark, who accused Rhee of "shocking" collusion in the release of some 27,000 anti-Communist North Korean prisoners, arrived in Korea shortly after it was disclosed that two new attempted prison breakouts occurred Sunday, one of which was at least partially successful.

American troops used machine guns and tear gas to block one of the escape attempts, but there were no casualties.

CHEJU DEMONSTRATION

Meanwhile, the Prisoner of War Command announced that anti-Communist Chinese prisoners on Cheju Island demonstrated Saturday against the membership of India, Poland and Czechoslovakia on the proposed neutral repatriation commission. The delayed report said the prisoners on Cheju had remained

ROKs Win Hill; MIG Bag Upped 3

SEOUL, Monday, June 22—(AP)—South Korean raiders won back a hill outpost in the Finger Ridge sector today in a predawn attack against Chinese who rammed back a part of the main Allied line a week ago.

Early reports from the South Koreans did not indicate the size of the fight on the East-Central Front nor the importance of the hill.

Action continued relatively light elsewhere along the battlefront.

In the air war, American Sabrejet fighters shot down three Russian-made MIG-15s and damaged two more today in dogfights over MIG Alley.

On the Eastern Front a company of Communists fought hand to hand with South Koreans near Christmas Hill at midnight but pulled out after an hour.

The Reds twice knocked the South Koreans off the outpost but each time counterattacks won it back.

Five planes, presumably Communist, flew over the Seoul area Sunday night but did not drop any bombs.

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador, June 21 (AP)—A strong earth tremor was felt here at 9:47 a.m. (10:47 a.m. EST) today. No casualties or damage was reported immediately.

3 Neutrals Held Pledged To PW Role

WASHINGTON, June 21—(AP)—Switzerland, India and Sweden were reported today to have assured the United States they are willing to serve on neutral commissions to oversee a Korean truce.

Switzerland announced last week it would have to reconsider its position in view of the wholesale release of prisoners by South Korean President Syngman Rhee.

But State department officials in touch with representatives of the three neutral governments over the week end said they were satisfied none of them would withdraw from present arrangements, if a cease-fire is agreed on.

HAS SIX-POINT PLAN
MSA Director Stassen

Close Trade Gap, Plea Of Stassen

New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21—Harold E. Stassen, Mutual Security Administrator, outlined a six-point program designed to close the dollar gap between the United States and other nations of the free world here today. He spoke at the opening of the Junior Chamber International's eighth world congress.

1. "A major increase in U. S. private capital abroad."

2. "Some increase in U. S. imports, especially raw materials and other items which best complement and fit in with our economy."

3. "Expanded U. S. travel and tourism overseas."

MARKET-MAKING

4. "United States purchase overseas of arms and equipment needed by our joint defense forces in NATO and in other parts of the world."

5. "Increased wages in other industrial countries which will expand consumer markets, stimulate production and facilitate an upward climb of living standards."

6. "Better credit availability in other nations for small and new independent industries and enterprises to facilitate their establishment and their growth."

Stassen spoke in San Francisco's War Memorial Opera House, birthplace of the United Nations, before 700 young business and professional men from more than 30 countries.

NATIONALISM

Stassen admitted the six-point program would be "difficult to implement" because of "an understandable extreme nationalism in the approach to economic questions in every country."

On the question of expanding U. S. imports, involving as it does the touchy political issue of tariffs, Stassen did not amplify his recommendation for "some increase." He said the entire subject would be studied by a special commission to be set up by the present Congress.

American exports are currently running about $15,000,000,000 a year, he said, with imports only $10,000,000,000. A temporary balance was met by grants and loans of $5,000,000,000, which, while "a desirable program under the circumstances," was not in Stassen's opinion "a sound basis for a long-term relationship for either the giver or the recipient."

Bolt Blamed As E. Point Home Burns

Storm Damages Other Dwellings

Bolts of lightning crackling during a heavy thunderstorm Sunday caused a fire which destroyed a four-room house in East Point and brought minor damage to several other homes during the first day of summer, police said.

Gusts of wind up to 38 miles per hour, heavy rain and hail damaged dozens of short telephone and power lines, put street lighting circuits out of commission in College Park, and blew down several trees in the Atlanta limits, police said.

MORE SHOWERS

Widely scattered afternoon and evening thundershowers are expected again Monday and Tuesday the Atlanta Weather Bureau said, along with partly cloudy skies and little change in temperature. A high of 92 and a low of 68 are slated both days, the forecaster said.

Atlanta recorded a high of 92 degrees about noon Sunday, before cooling thundershowers pushed temperatures down to a comfortable 70 degrees. A rainfall of .018 was recorded during the day.

East Point firemen said lightning struck power lines near a frame house on West Washington Rd., near Rugby Ave., traveled down wires to the house, and set it afire. Occupants of the house, Mrs. Hulis Chance, was not at home when the bolt struck.

Firemen said no fire hydrant was located near the house and booster water pumps on the fire trucks had to be used. They said the house was a loss.

PORCH

Lightning knocked a porch off a house at 414 E. Washington Ave., East Point, and jarred the floor of a nearby bedroom where Sarah Summers, 20, rested on a bed. She was not injured, firemen reported.

Bolts striking electrical wiring also caused minor damage to four other houses in East Point; two in College Park, and two in Hapeville.

Wires were reported down at five locations over Atlanta and a few points in College Park. A tree was blown down on Riverside Dr., N. W., and an oak tree

BermudaDate July 8, Waits Only on Paris

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—The United States and Britain tonight announced July 8 as the opening date for the Big Three meeting in Bermuda but the American announcement made it contingent on French approval.

The British announcement from Prime Minister Churchill's residence was much firmer as to the time than a similar statement from the White House.

This indicated Churchill expects to go ahead with the talks, which originally were due to start in mid-June, whether the French have a new premier in office or not. British sources expressed confidence there would be a premier by then.

Churchill spoke of meeting "French representatives" at Bermuda. Diplomats said it was believed that if the French fail to form a government in time, President Auriol may attend himself or designate one or more representatives to sit in for France.

The White House statement said Eisenhower intends to fly to Bermuda in the presidential plane, Columbine, leaving here July 7.

Leave Aid Say to Ike, Taft Urges

WASHINGTON, June 21—(AP)—Senator Taft (Rep., Ohio) proposed today a compromise under which President Eisenhower would be given discretionary power to withhold foreign aid funds until European Defense Community treaties are ratified.

The Senate's majority leader said he is opposed to a House-approved provision in the Mutual Security Agency authorization bill arbitrarily holding back one billion dollars in aid until Western Europe agrees on forming a unified army.

France, Italy, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg still have to act on this proposal, which would bring a rearmed West Germany with 500,000 soldiers into the contemplated Western Europeon defense force.

NOT COMPULSORY

"I don't think we should make this a compulsory thing," Taft said. "While I am in sympathy with the objective of speeding up action on EDC, I think it would be better to leave the discretion with the President."

Legislative leaders probably will meet with Eisenhower Wednesday and Taft indicated the House action may be discussed then.

Senator Knowland of California, acting GOP floor manager, said in a separate interview he wants to discuss the House - approved EDC provision with administration leaders before taking any stand on it. He said the aid bill will be brought before a Republican caucus Tuesday.

PLEDGE SUPPORT

Taft and Knowland said they will support the Senate foreign relations committee's $5,318,000,000 version of the bill. The House approved a $4,998,000,000 ceiling on foreign aid appropriations for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Taft added, however, that he had reserved the right to vote for a still lesser amount when the actual appropriations are made in a later bill.

There was more than a hint that Taft might join in any move that develops to cut down funds for purchases of military equipment abroad, particularly in Britain and France.

Italy Arms Chief Greets Carney

ROME, June 21 (AP)—Italian Defense Minister Randolfo Pacciardi sent greetings today to U. S. Adm. Robert B. Carney on the second anniversary of the establishment of NATO's Southern European Command at Naples.

Carney has been NATO commander in Naples two years and is leaving shortly to become U. S. chief of naval operations in Washington.

Arms Plan Fight Joined By Hoover

Congressional critics of the reorganization plan, backed up by former President Herbert Hoover, charged that it would set up a "Prusisan-type" central high command.

The mounting criticism and Hoover's influential opposition raised doubts whether Congress would approve the controversial plan. The House government operations committee will vote on the reorganization tomorrow in its first congressional test.

Opposition to the plan cuts across party lines to include both Democrats and Republicans.

The center of the controversy is a section in the plan that would grant the chairman of the joint chiefs of staff increased authority to pick and manage a subordinate working group known as the joint staff. This staff, now under the control of the joint chiefs as a whole, screens problems for the chiefs and does the spade work in determining military strength levels.

The reorganization plan, which includes adding six new assistants to the defense secretary, automatically takes effect June 30 unless it is "vetoed" by a constitutional majority of the House or Senate—218 representatives or 49 senators.

Spy Executions Stir Protests in Australia

Cities Ringed By 150,000 Soviet Troops

By TOM REEDY

BERLIN, June 21—(AP)—The East German workers rebellion flared anew today under the guns of 150,000 Soviet combat troops enforcing the fifth day of martial law.

FACTORY FIRED

A Soviet Zone News Agency bulletin disclosed tonight that "enemy agents" set fire to a briquette factory in Nachterstedt, key town of the Saxony-Anhalt coal fields. The arsonists are still at large, the agency said. A West Berlin paper said last night 100,000 uranium miners in Saxony went on strike Thursday and that rioting followed in which 25 workers were killed and 300 wounded by Soviet troops.

Most of the 30 Soviet divisions in East Germany, including elite armored and motorized infantry outfits, were still pinned down to night guarding scores of mutinous cities and towns. Thousands of Communist secret police still pressed raids on homes of suspected leaders of resistance in every industry and urban center.

WEEK'S MOP-UP

It appeared the mop-up campaign might continue another week before the Soviet command could let a puppet German regime exercise civil authority again. The death toll in the East already is in the hundreds and the number reported arrested in the thousands.

A Western protest against "too much bloodshed" and "acts of barbarity" by Soviet troops that "will shock the conscience of the world" was rejected tonight by Maj. Gen. P. T. Dibrova, Soviet military cammander in the Russian sector of Berlin. He accused the Western powers of starting the 'Murder' Laid at Eisenhower Door By Lawyer at Rosenberg Funeral

Special to The Atlanta Constitution

NEW YORK, June 21—Emanuel H. Bloch, attorney who represented Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, used the word "murder" at their funeral service today to describe their deaths last Friday evening in the electric chair at Sing Sing Prison. Bloch placed their "murder" at the doors of President Eisenhower, Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., and J. Edgar Hoover, head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The lawyer who fought for 26 months to save the lives of the 35-year-old husband and his wife, 37, spoke at their funerals in the I. J. Morris Funeral Home in Brooklyn. Inside, 330 mourners overtaxed the chapel's seating capacity of 310. Outside, a crowd estimated by the police at 10,000 stood in pavement-searing 93-degree heat in the East Flatbush streets.

After the service three chartered buses and 300 private automobiles followed the two hearses to Wellwood Cemetery at Pine Lawn, near Farmingdale, L. I. There photographers were ordered away and the two bodies were interred in a common grave.

At the service in Brooklyn Rabbi Abraham Cronbach, elderly professor emeritus of the Hebrew Union College of Cincinnati, Ohio, drew angry murmurs of dissent from 330 mourners inside the chapel when he pleaded for understanding of those who carried out the death verdict. The mourners began to stir in protest when he said:

"Our hardest task is to eschew hatred, to forsake rancor, and to keep our hearts clean of vindictiveness and retaliation. The Hebrew scriptures say: 'Thou shalt not take revenge' and 'thou shall not hate thy brother in thy heart.'

"Let us not vituperate those who pronounced the verdict. Let us at least give them credit for this much: That they did what they thought was right."

With these words a wave of dissenting protest filled the gray-walled, air-conditioned chapel. Cries of "No, no" were raised, making it difficult to hear the rabbi. The murmuring grew in volume as he ended by saying:

"We must demonstrate that we are among those most loyal to America. We must not permit any ground for accusations of remission in our American citizenship. We gain when America gains, and lose when America loses."

Outside a crowd estimated by the police at 10,000 stood in 93-degree heat. Plans to amplify the funeral service by loud-speaker were canceled by the police when the National Committee to Secure Justice in the Rosenberg

Repels Rescuers, Leaps 75 Feet to River, Dies

GUNTERSVILLE, Ala., June 21—(AP)—An unidentified traveler fought off would-be rescuers today and plunged 75 feet from a river bridge to his death.

Authorities were mystified at the only identification found on the man, a card marked "specimen" and "1965-1975" with a name and address on each side, neither of which checked when traced.

Gordon Patterson of Guntersville told officers he was driving across the bridge early this morning when he saw the man disrobing at the edge of the bridge over the Tennessee River.

Patterson said he ran to stop the man from jumping but was threatened with a knife. The man then leaped.

Three persons fishing in a boat beneath the bridge said they tried to rescue the man but he fought off their attempts. The body was recovered by the boat occupants, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Steward of Birmingham and Chief E. W. Gober of the U. S. Naval Air Station at Berian Field.

Coroner Aubrey Carr, who pronounced the death a suicide, said the man hitched a ride into Guntersville with Allen Overstreet. Overstreet said the man told him he had come from Tampa, Fla., and was en route to Chicago.

The man was described as between 24 and 28 years old, five feet, 11 inches, about 165 pounds, with dark brown hair and brown eyes.

He had two extra trousers and an extra shirt in a little bundle.

On one side of the card found on him was "Alfred S. Carter. 1340 Nielson Ave." (no city) and on the other side was "Paul Anderson, 1400 Walnut Pl., Columbia, Ariz."

Carr said neither address checked.

GOP Is Poising Whip For Lagging Senate

By ROSE McKEE

WASHINGTON, June 21—(INS)—GOP leaders expect to use a whip this week to speed Senate action on a mounting stack of bills which must be passed before Congress can meet an adjournment date now only six weeks away.

GLORIA WEDS—PITTSBURGH—June 21—Film Actress Gloria De Haven and New York real estate man, Martin S. Kimmel, pose after their wedding today at the suburban Pittsburgh home of Mr. and Mrs. Aleon Deitch. It is the second marriage for each.

Acting GOP Leader Knowland indicated that the lash will be used gently at first. He said he expects to run Senate sessions to 7 or 8 o'clock at night in hope that a dent may be made in the accumulated work.

The House, where debate is limited, is as usual in better shape to meet the July 31 adjournment goal.

CONTROLS SHOWDOWN

First up in the Senate Monday is a strictly party line fight on adoption of controls legislation approved in a conference of the two houses.

Vice-President Nixon in his first votes since taking office, broke two tie ballots on this issue Thursday. Senate Democrats said the showdown, set for 2 p. m. (Atlanta time) Monday, will depend on which party has the largest Senate attendance.

Center of the party fight is a provision creating a new federal agency to make loans to small business. The agency is expected to become the eventual successor of the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

Democrats explained they oppose the agency because the Senate never had a chance to consider it. The section was added in the House.

Knowland said he will bring up the submerged lands bill once the controls report is out of the way. Debate on the measure to establish federal rights to submerged lands along the continental shelf—the outer area beyond the tidelands—is expected to last through Wednesday.

FOREIGN-AID DEBATE

All Senate Republicans have been called into conference Tuesday to discuss the $5,300,000,000 foreign-aid bill, on which floor debate is scheduled to start June 29.

Senator Bricker (Rep., Ohio) will seek this week to get the Senate GOP policy committee to back his constitutional amendment limiting the treaty-making powers of the President.

The Senate interior committee will try again Wednesday to reverse the 8 to 7 vote which tacked Alaska to the Hawaiian statehood bill.

Senator Gordon (Rep., Oregon), who has been in charge of the statehood bill, said he "has hopes" of getting the Hawaiian measure out of committee. However, statehood is one of the bills on which no floor action is expected at this session even though on the Eisenhower request list.

The House this week takes up the Senate-passed bill to provide 1,000,000 tons of wheat for Pakistan and a number of minor bills.

None Afraid To Protest —McCarthy

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP) — A British newsman and Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) today clashed verbally over the issue of so-called "McCarthyism."

McCarthy and the newsman, Paul Scott Rankine, Washington bureau chief of the Reuters News Agency, appeared on the "American Forum of the Air" television program of the National Broadcasting Company. The program was filmed in advance.

Asked his opinion as to "the effect of McCarthyism internationally," Rankine said the U. S. was regarded by Britains and Europeans as "a country of great experimentation" and added:

"Now, in the last 12 months the idea which has been developed in the minds of Europeans and of the British people as a result of what I might call the McCarthy controversy—that picture has been of a country in which people are afraid to speak freely, in which they are afraid to confess mistakes . . .

"AFRAID TO SPEAK"

"They see Americans in high public office hesitating to speak unequivocally, presumably because this will bring about them, not only criticism, but some concrete form of punishment."

Regarding Rankine's remark on American experimentation, McCarthy replied:

"I don't believe we should experiment in conspiracies."

The Communist idea, McCarthy said, is "a world conspiracy to take over all of the free nations. The only thing I insist upon is we do not have individuals who are part of that conspiracy helping to run our government."

"Now, Mr. Rankine also mentioned the fear to speak out," said McCarthy, continuing:

"I get rather amused each week—I hear so many of the bleeding hearts screaming to high heaven that their right to scream has been curtailed. As far as I know, there is no one yet who has been afraid to talk in this country, Mr. Rankine."

FIFTH AMENDMENT

The discussion led to the Fifth Amendment, under which many witnesses before congressional committees have refused to testify on grounds of self-incrimination.

Said McCarthy:

"Well, if you ask a man whether he's a Communist, he's under oath. If his answer were to be 'no'—that's a truthful answer that would not incriminate him.

"The only way he could be incriminated is if he were a Communist. So, when a man comes before our committee and says, 'I won't answer because if I told the truth I might go to jail,' it means, of course, that he obviously is a Communist. . . ."

At one point, Rankine asked if "the congressional committee is assuming, absorbing the powers of both the judge, prosecuting counsel and the jury."

"No," said McCarthy, "the committee does not send a man to jail. . . . That's up to a court."

AF Cutback Realistic, Honest, Says Flanders

WASHINGTON, June 21—(AP)—Sen. Flanders (Rep., Vt.) today defended the administration cutback of more than five billion dollars in Air Force funds as honest and realistic.

"It is a question of how much we do at our best without turning our civilian production facilities into war production on a peacetime basis," said Flanders, a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Flanders and Chairman Saltonstall (Rep., Mass.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee debated the Air Force slash on a radio-television program (Meet Your Congress) with Sen. Hill (Dem., Ala.) and Rep. Mahon (Dem., Tex.).

Hill and Mahon criticized the proposals by President Eisenhower and Secretary of Defense Wilson to cut new funds asked by former President Truman for the Air Force and reduce its planned size from 143 to 120 wings.

On another program (NBC's Youth Wants To Know), Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, retiring Air Force chief of staff, restated some of his objections to the proposed cut.

Even if Congress restores the cut and removes other proposed restrictions on manpower strength and air base construction, Vandenberg said "we figure that we have lost a minimum of six months in obtaining our objective of a 143-wing program."

A wing ranges from 30 bombers to 75 fighters.

Mahon, former chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee on defense funds, said the cut would decrease from 10,000 to 7,200 the number of pilots trained annually.

"We're throwing away our psychological weapon and losing the cold war by not presenting a bold front to the world," he said.

Hill, like Vandenberg, said Secretary Wilson already had set back the Air Force buildup by six months.

"The shadow boxing could be resolved if Wilson would call in the joint chiefs of staff and find out now what we need," Hill added.

Flanders said Wilson is "just being honest with what we've got" and Congress should hear the whole story before taking sides in the dispute.

U. S. Offers New Arab Arms Plan

Alliance Efforts Regarded Stalled

By JOHN A. SCALI

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—The United States has decided to offer separate arms aid agreements to Arab governments in a move to bolster the strategic Middle East against communism.

American ambassadors will be instructed, as soon as Congress makes money available, to notify Arab nations of U. S. willingness to begin such negotiations.

This new approach toward the Middle East defense problem reflects the State Department's belief that it will be impossible to link Arab governments to an American-backed Middle East defense alliance in the near future.

ALLIANCE PRESSED

For more than two years, the United States, Britain, France and Turkey have been urging Arab nations to join them in a formal defense alliance.

The Arab bloc of nations, partly because it is backing Egypt in its bitter argument with Britain and also because of fear of Israel, has refused to start negotiations.

Top American officials emphasize that the proposed separate military aid agreements are looked upon only as a stop-gap move and not as a substitute for a formal Middle East pact. That will remain a long-term objective.

The American government will try to negotiate separate arms aid agreements in the near future because of the urgent need of moving some modern military equipment into the area to guard against possible Communist aggression.

MUST PLEDGE SUPPORT

In order to qualify for gift American weapons, however, nations must sign pledges they will back the Western countries in the East-West struggle.

They must also agree to accept a small American military mission which will teach the local armed forces how to use American weapons and provide adequate publicity for the operation.

Countries reportedly interested in such deals with the U. S. include Egypt, Israel, Iraq, Syria, Lebanon and Jordan.

At present, American officials seem to believe it is more important to move military supplies into the Arab nations because they are strategically more important in defense against Russia.

French Ex-Premier Pinay Called To Try for a Cabinet

PARIS, June 21—(AP)—Former Premier Antoine Pinay was asked today by President Vincent Auriol to have a try at forming a government to end France's marathon political crisis.

The 61-year-old independent was summoned to Elysee Palace, Auriol's official residence, after the president had conferred with a group of France's political leaders in an effort to end the cabinet crisis now entering its second month.

Pinay said he would give his answer to Auriol tomorrow afternoon, but the former premier is expected to accept. Even if Pinay succeeded in gathering sufficient support among political leaders to form a government, he still would have to be approved by France's National Assembly. Since the government headed by Rene Mayer fell May 21 the assembly has turned down the bid of four men to the premiership. In addition, several others asked by Auriol to take a crack at ending the crisis have given up without even going before the assembly.

French leaders have been under special pressure to select a government head who can speak for France at the forthcoming Allied Big Three conference in Bermuda.

Romulo Enters Philippine Race

In a national convention lasting only four hours, the island republic's new Democratic party unanimously acclaimed Romulo and incumbent Vice President Fernando Lopez its candidates in the November election.

Impatient Rhee Upsets Truce

The modern Jeremiah finds no trouble echoing the lament of the prophet of old: "Peace, peace, when there is no peace."

For weeks an anxious world sees thin strands of hope being spun into what looks like a strong rope. The plan for an armistice in Korea seems to be working out. Then of a sudden the strands part and this morning the chance for peace hangs by a slim thread.

All because the stubborn, unreasonable, impatient leader of the South Koreans cannot wait to work through channels. Surely, by now even Syngman Rhee's best friends could tell him that he has upset the apple cart.

Hard enough to handle with their weapon—the big lie, the Reds come to the negotiations table with the accusing question: How can you enforce your own plan for an armistice when even now you cannot control the South Koreans? How can you maintain a truce when you cannot keep an ally in line before the truce is signed?

As of now we find difficulty in answering the charge. And the Reds go on to insist that the 26,000 anti-Communist prisoners released by the ROKs be rounded up and returned.

But has Rhee seen the error of his recent ways? Evidently not, for he has come along with the demand that we free the some 9,000 anti-Communist prisoners we still hold. He would not wait until, and if, the proposed repatriation plan gets a chance to prove its worth.

Rhee may have done inestimable damage to the cause of United Korea. While from the start some Americans have insisted that we pull out of the peninsula and leave it to its fate, others of us have defended intervention as a curb to aggression. The immediate objective has been to hold the Red tide to North Korea, then in the realm of discussion to work out the salvation of freedom for the entire land.

Rhee's course of action strengthens the arguments of the isolationists. He must be disciplined if Korea is to be saved. He must be made to see that in this world crisis patience is of the essence. A great many Americans must be made to see the same thing.

For there is still hope. The Communists initiated the renewal of the truce talks. In our opinion they still want to see an end to the fighting in Korea. If they want that badly enough, the present almost impossible snarl will be ironed out.

Meanwhile, in the closing lines of an old war song:

"Many are the hearts that are weary tonight,
Waiting for the war to cease.
Many are the hearts longing for the right
To see the dawn of peace."

Case for Fluoride Is a Strong One

We have kept an open mind on the subject of fluoridation of public water supplies until available facts could be carefully weighed. Having considered these facts, we must conclude that the overwhelming weight of evidence is on the side of fluoridation as a means of preventing tooth decay in children.

We say this, too, with the backing of the American Dental Association, the American Medical Association, the Georgia Dental Association and Medical Society, Fulton County medical and dental groups and hundreds of others.

Georgia's Northern District Dental Society has laid the case before Atlanta's Board of Health in a highly intelligent manner. The points made were these:

1. Every evidence over a period of more than 40 years demonstrates the complete safety of fluoridation. There are 753 communities with 14,000,000 residents using fluoridated water, including Baltimore, Washington, Milwaukee, Cincinnati and seven Georgia cities. Athens was the pioneer in our state.

2. Atlanta has, in fact and unfortunately, become a huge guinea pig against which those communities that are fluoridating water measure the remarkable effectiveness of fluoridation in their own communities.

3. The initial and annual costs are modest. Milwaukee, with 732,000 people, installed its equipment for $11,000. DeKalb County has been fluoridating its water since April, 1951, at a cost of 2 cents a person per year.

4. The society agrees with the president of the American Dental Association, who said, "The support of fluoridation by dental, medical and public health agencies is so strong that there is scarcely any alternative but to characterize opponents as either misguided or self-seeking."

Most arguments against fluoridation are of the scare type that have been effectively disproved. Charges that placing "chemicals" in water will poison the people lose their effect when we consider that chlorine has been used in water for these many years with no worse effects than the eradication of typhoid fever and many other communicable diseases.

Chlorine, and as far as that goes, common table salt or sodium chloride, are poisonous chemicals if used in sufficient quantities. Used in proper amounts they are beneficial.

Fluorides in the water can be shown to reduce tooth decay by about two-thirds in children up to 12 years of age. The cost of an average filling would pay for enough fluoride for one person for about 30 years. So the economy argument won't hold water.

In light of the facts and the overwhelming opinion of physicians and dentists, we see no reason for further delay in fluoridation of Atlanta's supply. We ask those who are in sincere opposition to examine themselves to see whether they have been the victim of "scare" propaganda.

Georgia Tax Collections Reflect State Progress

The Bureau of the Census reveals that Georgia leads the nation in the last decade in the percentage increase in state tax collections. Georgians contributed 288 per cent more for the upkeep of its state government and its institutions in 1952 than they did in 1942.

There are several reasons for this. In the first place, our per capita income has grown in almost the same percentage. This ability to pay more taxes reflects the vast economic changes that have occurred in the state.

In the second place, Georgia's tax structure was the most antiquated in the nation until revision during the past few years. It could not possibly produce the revenue necessary to carry on essential services. With adoption of the sales tax and elimination of the many taxes that "just growed," we met a real situation realistically.

The percentage increase in tax payments does not mean that Georgians are paying more taxes per capita than residents of other states nor that we are paying a greater percentage of our total income for state services. In fact, we are about in the middle of all states in this respect.

It does mean that Georgians are now better able to meet their financial obligations in carrying on the services they demanded and needed.

Falling Farm Prices Challenge Management

As we have reported, the national average decline in farm income during the first four months of 1953 was only 3.1 per cent, while Georgia farm returns are off 23.6 per cent. This drop was fourth largest in the nation and the largest in the Southeast, with South Carolina's 16.8 per cent being runner-up.

Mississippi and Florida registered gains in income, but the average for the entire Southeast was a loss of 7.1 per cent.

Georgia's heavy losses may be attributed in part to last year's drought, effects of which are still being felt. Price declines are not the whole story. Volume of sales accounts for part of it.

Actually, the greatest drop was in the first two months, when returns to Georgia farmers dropped 27 per cent. There has been some strengthening since then, but there is no reason for optimism for the rest of the year. The picture is one that requires the farmer to use his best judgment. He must be conservative for the months ahead.

We are in for a period of uncertainty and readjustment in agriculture. It behooves farmers to sharpen their management practices all along the line.

Rosenbergs' Case Parallels Andre

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower's tense moments while waiting for the Rosenbergs to tell all they knew and demonstrate their allegiance to the United States instead of to Soviet Russia had in some respects a curious parallel to the last days' incidents just before General Washington in 1780 ordered the execution of Major Andre, British spy.

General Washington did grant a reprieve at the last minute on the day the execution was first ordered. Then he postponed it only until a hearing could be granted to a British major general and two civilian lawyers who came by permission across from enemy lines to argue that Andre had entered the Continental lines under a flag of truce and hence was not deserving of the death penalty.

General Washington read the report of the conference and decided that nothing new had been adduced. General Greene, who conducted the conversations in behalf of General Washington, had offered to exchange Major Andre for Benedict Arnold but the British commander scorned the offer. A few hours later General Washington again ordered the execution and disregarded a letter from Andre himself that he be permitted to die like a soldier from the bullets of a firing squad instead of on the gallows. Washington took the position that under military law all spies had to hang and that it was important to let all potential spies know that such a fate would await them.

Oddly enough there was a general sympathy with Major Andre throughout the Continental camps because of his forthrightness when captured. He freely admitted that he did not come under a flag of truce, as the British commander had tried to argue.

There is a significant contrast, too, between the way the Andre case was handled and the reports that have been coming in from East Germany about the execution by the Communists of alleged "Western agents" who were promptly put to death last week without even so much as a hearing or a trial or a chance to present evidence.

This is something the demonstrators for the Rosenbergs might note. For the United States did give the two spies many months for a trial and appeals and pleas and at the last moment the highest court in the land sat in special session to hear certain legal aspects of the case.

Bob Considine

Eliot Quote Guided Kaufman

NEW YORK—"There is a mercy which is weakness and even treason against the common good."

The English novelist Mary Ann Evans, who called herself George Eliot, wrote that.

Many years later it was to become a beacon on which Judge Irving Kaufman steadfastly held his gaze. It took great concentration and character on the judge's part, for around him swirled tornadoes of emotion and vivid darts of superbly contrived propaganda.

As appeals in the Rosenberg case piled on appeals, and piled again to form a legalistic labyrinth that has had no counterpart in this country since the Sacco-Vanzetti case, Kaufman became a target of abuse and special pleading beyond compare.

Judge Kaufman is a sensitive man and a good father. It was like a whip across his face that day in Federal Court when Emanuel Bloch, the Rosenberg lawyer, dropped what had been the monotone of his recapitulation of his charges against certain government witnesses, and cried out passionately:

"You have in your hands the fate of two human beings, your honor. . . . You should have witnessed the scenes with the children. The Rosenbergs are soft, sweet, tender people whose hearts are no different from yours or mine. . . . What is it that causes them to say 'we are innocent'? Why don't they take the easy way out and confess if they are guilty? What stops them?"

Judge Kaufman thought that over for a time before he replied.

"I have pondered that over and over," he said quietly.

"Once the current passes through the bodies of the Rosenbergs nobody can ever right the wrongs done to them, their children and American justice," Bloch went on.

"God!—your honor—you have a heart. These are parents! They love their children as you love yours. Please think! Please consult with your conscience!

"Your honor, you will never be able to look in a mirror again, or at your children!"

That was the whip.

"If I felt that way for an instant," the judge said evenly, "I'd change."

"This court," Judge Kaufman said in written answer to that particular appeal of Bloch, "has no doubt but that if the Rosenbergs were ever to attain their freedom they would continue in their deep-seated devotion and allegiance to Soviet Russia, a devotion which has caused them to choose martyrdom and keep their lips sealed."

An American returning from abroad is struck by the difference in outlook on the Rosenberg case. People I spoke to in London, Rome and Paris seemed thoroughly convinced that something was wrong with the government's case, and always for the same reason: "If they are guilty they should have been killed when sentenced . . . why has it dragged out so long?"

Astonishingly, not many people through the world can comprehend the infinite patience and immeasurable fairness of American justice.

Cowcatchers on Cars Is Suggested As Antidote to Animals on Highway

Kinston, N. C. — General Sherman, marching through Georgia, stood on a hilltop and said, "War is hell."

What would he have said today if he were driving on Georgia highways and had to dodge errant pigs and frolicsome cows which delight in playing tag with motorists, causing no end of frustration, repressed oaths and gnashing of teeth?

Farmers in your sister states know the necessity of fencing in their livestock. Why must they run wild in Georgia? Is it because the grass grows greener on the sides of the road? It's disconcerting to be speeding along and see a cow up ahead, watching you, not knowing if and when that bovine will elect to cross the road just as you reach the same spot.

I can only offer a few suggestions: Equip all cars with cow-catchers, designed to throw all prey to the right of the road. How about a trained collie running ahead of your car clearing the road for you? Or perhaps a big sign on your radiator saying "SHOO" in large letters. Perhaps some enterprising Georgian could invent a cattle caller that would make a noise in reverse and shoo them away instead.

Clearly, something must be done for the poor motorist with high blood pressure or weak heart. It is bad enough watching out for antiquated autos and amateur drivers without having to watch for stray bacon and hamburger on the hoof.

Says Rosenbergs Awaited Their Turn

Athens—In the still of the night, methought I heard two voices speak. "Why do you whet your scythe, Grim Reaper?" asked the inquisitive one. "Do you anticipate the deeds of your trade with eager spirit?"

Answered he, "The traitor shapes his own whetstone with which to hone my scythe."

The Rosenbergs awaited their turn.

Wants Public To Squawk If Postal Rates Are Increased

Tifton—This talk about further increasing the postal rate—especially first-class mail to 4 cents—should bring a loud squawk from Johnny Q. Public. Why not eliminate needless expense in operation of the Post Office department rather than increase postage? And make no mistake about it—there are needless expenses, such as some newspaper writers have already pointed out. MRS. W. E. STEPHENS.

Market Bulletin Should Allow Readers To Speak, He Thinks

Greenville—It's impossible to get anything into Tom Linder's Market Bulletin, which is paid for with tax money, unless it is favorable to Tom. He was sent a petition once, signed by over 100 farmers, asking him to bring a certain matter that was very important to small farmers to the attention of the farm bureau that was to meet shortly.

What we got from him was a lesson in internationalism and history of the Guggenheims, Rothschilds and Anderson-Clayton. If Tom's going to use the Bulletin to discuss partisan politics, he should give us space to air our own views when we don't see eye to eye with him.

Whatever happens, we certainly want Tom to keep us posted and not let us be caught napping in case there is a change in date of day of judgment.

Clean Chattahoochee River Would Make Good Fishing

College Park—We have a nice stream of water running through Georgia known as the Chattahoochee River. This stream is filled with all types of good fish which are not fit for eating because of the things being dumped into the river, such as oil, dyes, etc.

This is no fish story. I went fishing the other day and caught 20 pounds of catfish, bream and bass. I had to threw them away; they were no good to eat because of the oil in the water. Why spend several hundred dollars to go fishing in other states when we have a nice stream here? I hope the public will act to get this waste from being run into our Chattahoochee River. G. W. DUNN.

Doesn't Agree With Einstein About U. S. 'Intellectuals'

Searcy, Ark.—Einstein should know that no one is trying to instill suspicion of all intellectual efforts. What a baseless assertion! It illustrates that brilliant men may speak emotionally and blindly.

Einstein should also know that there are some so-called intellectuals in this country who have constantly been identified with Communist-front organizations.

Einstein knows what has happened to intellectuals in Russia when they have disagreed with the Party line. Why complain because we want to remove Communists from educational or political positions of influence in this country?

If the teaching profession had been as interested as it ought to have been in the question of true freedom, they would have long ago given such opposition to communism that no one in Congress would feel the need for investigating the teaching profession.

Similar Sentences Would Promote Safety

Chief Magistrate John M. Murtaugh, in New York City, recently had to deal with a man who had ignored a total of 12 summonses for violating the traffic laws. It is interesting to see how he handled the case and why.

The magistrate fined the man $600. He revoked his license registration for two years. He relieved the offender of serving 30 days in prison when the man proved he would lose his job if jailed and voluntarily agreed never to drive again.

The usual attitude toward traffic violations considered, some people may accuse Magistrate Murtaugh of undue severity. In the first place, the offender in this case had wilfully flouted constituted authority and his attitude toward the courts was one of complete disdain. In the second place, his offenses included deliberately running a red light and two cases of speeding at 75 and 80 miles an hour, respectively.

All in all, the punishment appears to have been suitable, and when judges all over the country begin to let reckless, careless drivers have tangible evidence of the essential gravity of their conduct, we shall really be on our way to sanity and safety on the streets and highways.

Now They Offer Bible on Records

The Bible on records. When Mrs. Georgia Leckie of the Rich's book department first told me she had it I was not much interested. However, when I heard part of it I became enthusiastic, even excited about it.

For the blind, the old and the sick it will be a blessing beyond measure. And also for somebody like me. I read the Bible every day and can say with Moody, "I know the Bible is inspired because it inspires me." But after hearing the "Talking Bible," I was more inspired. I do not have it but hope to get it and plan to listen to it regularly each day.

The New Testament is available now, recorded in the beautiful language of the authorized King James version. It is complete and unabridged, all 27 books, 260 chapters, 7,957 verses and 180,751 words. Not even a single "begat" is omitted. It is on 24 records and has a total listening time of 24 hours. The records are so marked one can quickly find whatever part he wants to hear.

Twenty-four records sounds bulky and large, but these are special discs weighing less than one-half ounce each. They are in a beautiful leather folder, in size and appearance like a regular Bible. If the complete New Testament were to be recorded on ordinary phonograph records, a stack of records at least two feet high would be required.

Especially was I impressed with the manner it is read. The reader is not "theatrical," but reads with intelligence and beauty combined with reverence and restraint. More than a hundred readers were tried before the right one was found.

The Bible contains the answers to our problems and points the way to salvation. Anything that causes people to know more about the Bible has my support. But I believe this new "Talking Bible" will bring appreciation and understanding to many people who never read it for themselves. Hearing it so beautifully spoken will cause those who do read it to appreciate it more.

I listened to the Sermon on the Mount. I felt I was hearing the Master. To hear 1 Corinthians 13, the beautiful "love" chapter, is a marvelous experience. As you listen to the letters of St. Paul you feel the great apostle is right in the room with you.

China Has No Traffic Problem

"When you next go out on patrol, or sit under those shells, wondering which one will get you, just think of Charley Wilson." That's the opening sentence on a propaganda leaflet shot by Chinese Communist artillery into an American section in Korea. M/Sgt. Dick Chestnut labeled the leaflet "a big bunch of junk" and sent it to his wife in Albany, Ga. The Albany Herald ran a facsimile of this Commie propaganda piece which berates Ike's Secretary of Defense and quotes the Wilson statement, "What's good for General Motors is good for the country." With a sneer and a smear, the Red poison penman wrote in conclusion, "Think you're fighting for home and country—way out in Korea? Think again! You're fighting for Charley and the rest of the Big Money boys. . . . You risk your life; big business rakes in the dough."

The leaflet is a typographically neat job, the language well-Anglicized and the photo of the Defense Secretary authentic. It is apparent that the author was one who knows the American idiom and the American scene. What he doesn't understand is the American system.

The sergeant who called the propaganda "junk" might have said something like this in reply to one he calls "Joe Chink": "Sure, Joe, I'm fighting for Charley Wilson because he's been working for me. He and others like him—Boss Kettering and Henry Ford, the Dodge boys and Walter Chrysler—have made it possible for America to have automobiles and at a price that even I can afford to drive.

"By the way, have you got an automobile, Joe Chink? Has the Russian Plan brought cheap cars and time payments to Peiping?

"I've got an automobile, Joe. I've got one of Charley Wilson's products and I'd be at home taking a ride in it now, me and my family, if you and your beloused brethren hadn't shot off all the fireworks trying to destroy the system that lets me own a car.

"My buddy's got one, too. He's got one of Henry Ford's buggies. Did you ever read the story of Henry Ford's life, Joe? I suggest you read it. Or read how Walter Chrysler started out as a mechanic on a railroad. That's what I am, Joe; I'm a mechanic back home. I belong to that class they call labor, but I work under a system that lets me live as well as the college graduate who lives in the same block. Why, what I spend on gasoline when I'm at home is more than you get paid in a whole year under the lousy system you would shove off on the world.

"Trade private enterprise for that fake package of goods you call communism?

"Don't bother yourself blowing your foul propaganda my way, Joe Chink. Charley Wilson may not know whether he wants to defend democracy in the air or on the ground. But he knows what we've got is worth defending.

"Fighting for Charley Wilson and the Big Money boys? Well, Joe, I reckon you're right. I'm one of 'em, Joe. By the standards in your home town, Joe, I reckon you might say I'm a millionaire."

A Great Day for Fathers

SUNDAY AT PONCE DE LEON: Baby, it's wet outside and looking like it's gonna get wetter. If the Crackers and Memphis get in two games this afternoon, they'll make it only with divine assistance. . . . What is this, a ball park or a boiler factory? American Legionnaires are whooping it up, tooting whistles, blowing horns, ringing bells and celebrating Veterans Appreciation Day. I'm one veteran who'd appreciate a little silence . . .

Gene Mauch's sitting in the dugout with a three-day growth of beard. The dandy little manager won't touch a whisker again until the Crackers lose. He hopes to resemble one of the Smith Bros. before he shaves again.

Bisher

Here comes the umpires, and whatta you know? Last year on Father's Day we got George Popp. It's Father's Day again and Popp's day again. He's working the bases. . . . Bob Giggie's going for the Crackers. He's their Memphis specialist, the Cracker answer to Tommy Hurd. It began with that two-hitter back in May. . . . There's big Bill Daley down the first-base line. Sunday's the well-fed restaurant man's day at the park.

Ted McGrew, the man who found Whit Wyatt for Brooklyn, was down in the stands. "Like to find another one like him," said the old scout. Works for the Red Sox now, likes Chick King of Little Rock, but wonders if the service won't come for the kid Detroit owns. The Tigers need him worse than the Army. . . . Memphis has found the Crackers' weakness right away—that left-field fence. Bill Killinger backed up Sam Meeks' single with a home run out about the Legion locomotive back of the rail. . . . The Chicks have found another hole, between Bob Mainzer and Vern Petty. Mainzer won't let anything through. But he can't make a play on the dribblers. No harm done. The Chicks got three, but couldn't score.

Lightning is splitting the sky and the thunder is grumbling and it's getting dark as a cellar. It's looking like not just rain, but a flood. . . . It's so dark the television crew had to switch lenses on their long-range camera. . . . Petty just got one of the runs back and it's just 3-2 Memphis now. Old Lantern-Jaw doubled Roy Jarvis to third and Bob Mainzer scored him with a fly. . . . But it's not going to make much difference, it seems. Here comes rain, hail and assorted elements.

—An Old Cracker's Boy Comes Back

And here comes Hub Hubbard and his ground crew. Hubbard looks like he's dressed for the fireman's ball and the field general has got his crew in action. The canvas goes down. Hubbard shouting directions from the bridge, and everybody heads for cover. . . . If there's anything I'm more afraid of than snakes it's lightning, and they say you can't do anything about it but duck. I'm ducking down to the underside of the stands under the pretense of seeking fellowship. . . . Now the lights are out and it's dark everywhere. This is Sadie Thompson's kind of day.

RAIN ALMOST SPOILS THIS DAD'S DAY

Doesn't Even Get Any of the Umbrella

Before the storm struck Mauch had benched himself for Charlie Williams. The bearded boy has been in a horrendous slump. . . . Williams has never been as valuable to the Crackers as this season. The young man has done a terrific clutch job. . . . And while Chuck Tanner isn't hitting, he made one of those leaping Pete Reiser catches against the right-field boards on Meeks' drive in the fourth.

Under the stands, umpires Popp and Burch and players of all varieties are mixing and mingling with the customers. . . . Killinger is slightly concerned about that homer he hit. If the game is called, it's a dead pigeon. Remember the name Killinger from your Cracker history? His dad, Glenn, played here in the early '20's. He coaches football at West Chester College in Pennsylvania. Bill came to Memphis in the White Sox deal that sent Allie Clark to Rochester. . . . When Darrell Johnson barked at Burch over a called strike somebody bellowed: "Better watch yourself, Johnson. You may be playing for Atlanta in a year or two." He became St. Louis Browns' property the other day.

—Not Exactly Papish's Day

Luke Appling is discussing the lack of virtue in the beanball. "A brushback pitch is okay," he said, "if not thrown from the waist up. I tell my boys not to use the beanball. You don't have to use it to be a good pitcher. I was on the same team with Ted Lyons 12 years and I never saw him throw at anybody above the waist." . . . The rain pours down and a fellow walks up and asks Luke where Paul Lehner is. Luke tells him he didn't make the trip. Bad knee. And the fellow moans, "I drove all the way up from Albany to see him." . . . Some new census data just been reported on umpire Popp. He just became a pop again the other day, his fourth boy. He was hoping for a young lady who would have been named Lolly.

The rain lets up and the umpires say they'll take a look at the grounds, but you never think they've got a chance after a dousing like this one. . . . This crowd wants to see a ball game awful bad. The surface looks like a swimming pool, but out in the stands some customers are crying for play to start again. . . . General Hubbard and his troops remove the canvas and lo and behold, they'll play. General Hubbard has decisioned the weatherman again. It was one of his closest matches, however.

Williams is trying to get the Crackers back in the game, but he isn't getting much help. They left him on second in the fifth after his single and Jack Taylor's sacrifice. . . . Here it comes. Mainzer singles Dick Sinovic in and it's a dead heat in the sixth. Correction: It was a dead heat. This kid Killinger the Killer just made contact with that left-field garden again with George Noga on. Father ought to be proud of him on Father's Day. . . . The Crackers aren't done yet, though. Frank Papish just walked the bases full and Appling's got to go get him. It may be Father's Day, but it ain't Papish's day. . . . Sinovic and Jack Parks unload and Luke's got to get Bill Black. These long walks must be tiring. It's Hurd coming on, but Mainzer taps him for two and the Crackers are off and running and it's a good time to go.

Toronto Gains Split

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 21—(AP). After losing the first game, 7-0, the Toronto Maple Leafs salvaged the finale of their four-game series here by winning the second half of Sunday's double-header, 3-2, from Syracuse.

Crackers Win First; Umps Suspend 'Cap

Atlanta Rallies For 8-6 Edge

By JESSE OUTLAR

None of the 3,778 fans who spent five hours and forty-two minutes at Ponce de Leon Park Sunday will dispute the almanac's claim that June 21 is the longest day of the year.

Despite their lengthy stay, they saw only one game—the rain delayed opener in which Atlanta beat Memphis, 8-6, for the second affair hasn't ended officially.

The first game success, coupled with Nashville and Birmingham setbacks, shot the Crackers into a game and a half of the first-place Vols.

Plate Umpire George Popp, who allowed the sundown section to continue until dark, invoked Southern Association President Charlie Hurth's new "suspension rule" in the fifth inning.

Though it was practically pitch dark, Popp did not call the game because of darkness. He merely suspended play. That's why both clubs had their ears turned to New Orleans Monday morning.

Popp refused to say what he put in his report to Hurth, but the loop prexy had instructed his umps, in a recent bulletin, to suspend the game at any point they suspected stalling.

Memphis held a 2-0 lead and the game was two outs from being an official contest in the Cracker fifth when Popp halted play.

A few moments previously, Popp had given Manager Gene Mauch the heave-ho for walking to the plate to talk with Bob Mainzer. Mauch was in the process of bringing in a pinch hitter for Mainzer when the ump rang down the curtain.

Though the Crackers were in no hurry to end the game, every move that Mauch made was legal. He had every right to bring in a pinch hitter, or talk to one of his men.

Certainly the Crackers did not intentionally let balls fall, as Mobile and Memphis had done in two previous games under similar circumstances with Atlanta. As late as the top of the fifth, Mauch came up with a nifty double play on Ed White's grounder.

Cracker President Earl Mann, who told Mauch after the Mobile farce here that he'd rather lose a game than duplicate the Bears' stall act, gave his pilot a clear bill.

"If Popp suspended the game, in accordance with the bulletin, due to stalling, then he's entirely wrong," Mann said after the game. "There was no stalling."

Atlanta's Bob Mainzer and Memphis' Bill Killinger, son of an ex-Cracker outfielder, staged a slugging duel in the opener. Both knocked in four runs, but Mainzer did more damage with his double, RBI fly and single than Killinger did with a pair of two-run homers.

Fortunately, for the Crackers, Mainzer's licks came at opportune moments. His single climaxed a five-run comeback in the seventh, delivering the winning and insurance run.

Report to Hurth May Cite 'Stall'

Killinger started scoring action with his four-ply blast over the left-field fence, with one aboard, in the first. Junior Wooten and Pete Whisenant linked doubles in the Cracker half for a run, but the Chicks got to Bob Giggie for another score in the third.

A double by Bill Wilson, a walk and Ed White's single supplied the marker that gave Memphis a 3-1 bulge. Vern Petty kept the Crackers in striking distance by smacking Frank Papish for a run-producing double in the fourth.

However, Memphis raked Jack

TWO'S A CROWD—So Crackers' Pete Mainzer (L) is out at second base in seventh inning of first Atlanta-Memphis game Sunday. Vern Petty (also on base) tried to reach third on Mainzer's single, had to go back to second and found Mainzer there. Base belonged to Petty, so umpire George Popp (R) ruled Mainzer out after tag by Memphis third baseman Floyd Fogg (3rd from L).

Jack Roberts Wins First Pro Start

COLUMBUS, June 21—(AP)—Jack Roberts, aided by four home runs, made a successful debut into professional baseball Sunday. The ex-University of Georgia diamond star pitched the Columbus Cardinals over the Savannah Indians, 7-2.

Roberts, who chalked up a 9-3 mound record for the Bulldogs, was only in trouble twice, and both times pitched his way out. In going the distance, he fanned four, walked the same number and scattered seven hits.

The 22-year-old righthander did not give up a hit until the fifth inning. He retired the side in order in the first, third, fifth and seventh innings, only one of the runs off him was earned.

Miksis' Homer Paces Cubs Over Brooklyn

Campanella Gets Three Hits, 19th Home Run in 3-2 Loss

CHICAGO, June 21—(AP)—Eddie Miksis' first-pitch home run in the 10th inning carried the Chicago Cubs to a 3-2 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers before the season's largest crowd of 36,443 at Wrigley Field Sunday.

It was Miksis' second homer of the season and gave Bubba Church the nod over Bob Milliken in a tight pitching duel. Chicago got six hits and Brooklyn five to square the series at two games apiece.

Catcher Roy Campanella, who colected three hits for the losers, reached second base on an error, and scored minutes later on Carl Furillo's center-field single in the second.

Campanella used his 19th homer of the season to give the Brooks their second run with two out in the sixth.

Brave Rally Ties Giants in Second

Gomez Halts Milwaukee, 5-0, On Two-Hitter in First Tilt

MILWAUKEE, June 21—(AP)—The Milwaukee Braves staged one of their late inning rallies Sunday to gain a 6-6 tie with the New York Giants in the second game of a doubleheader halted by darkness, after dropping the first tilt, 5-0, to the two-hit pitching of rookie Rube Gomez.

The Braves jumped on Larry Jansen and reliefer Hoyt Wilhelm for four runs with two out in the eighth inning to pull even in the second game, halted by the umpires as Milwaukee finished batting in the big frame.

National League rules prohibit turning on lights in a day game. The cease firing was ordered at 7:58 p. m. (EST).

Gomez retired 22 men in order after allowing singles to Jim Pendleton and Jack Dittmer in the second inning of the opener.

The single loss kept intact the Braves' 2½-game margin atop the standing, with second-place Brooklyn losing to Chicago, 3-2. A near-capacity crowd of 34,343 boosted the home draw here to 525,823 for 21 playing dates and made the transplanted Braves the first club in the major leagues to pass the half-million attendance mark for the season.

O'Connell Double Quells Cardinals

ST. LOUIS, June 21—(AP)—Danny O'Connell's two-run double in the third inning put the Pittsburgh Pirates into the lead today and Murry Dickson kept nine hits well scattered to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-2.

The Cardinals had won five straight games and the Pirates had a five-game losing streak before today's game.

O'Connell's third-inning double knocked Cardinal starter Stu Miller out of the box and gave Dickson the cushion he needed to post his sixth victory against seven defeats. His hit followed singles by Johnny O'Brien and Preston Ward.

THE BIGGEST SHOW ON EARTH

Wimbledon Net Championships Open in England Monday

By STERLING SLAPPEY

WIMBLEDON, England, June 21 — (AP) — The biggest tennis show on earth—the Wimbledon Championships — opens Monday and there's a sneaking suspicion afoot that the wrong player may have been made favorite.

It will be the 67th championship and the fans will be watching the men from "down under"—the Australians who have dominated everything in sight for the last couple of years.

The ranking committee has put the No. 1 tag on slim, dark-haired Ken Rosewall, 18-year-old from Hurtsville, New South Wales—and that's where many observers feel the mistake may have been made.

But, from the way they performed last week, it was evident that Lewis Hoad, 18-year-old blond muscleman from Glebe, New South Wales, was in the midst of a streak of hot, winning tennis. Hoad was seeded sixth for Wimbledon.

Hoad blasted his way through the London Lawn Tennis Championships at Queen's Club, beating Rosewall Saturday in the finals, 8-6, 10-8.

First opponent for Rosewall in his second Wimbledon championship will be 17-year-old Michael Davies of Swansea, Wales. This should be easy.

Hoad's first-round job should be much tougher. He takes on South Africa's W. R. Seymour on the No. 1 court.

First seeded among the women is Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., and no one finds any objection to that.

Like Hoad and Rosewall, Maureen is only 18 years old.

Maureen and the rest of the women won't begin play until Tuesday. Seeded behind Miss Connolly are three other Americans, Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, and Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode of Alameda, Calif.

The final showdown for all events—men's and women's singles and doubles and mixed doubles—will come July 3 and 4 on the center court.

The only defending champions are Miss Connolly and the doubles combination of Miss Hart and Miss Fry.

Australia's Frank Sedgman, who had a hand in the other three titles, has turned pro along with his Davis Cup partner, Ken McGregor. Sedgman won the singles crown, shared the doubles title with McGregor, and the mixed doubles championships with Miss Hart.

Tigers Snag Final For Split With Yanks

Dropo Gets Pair of Homers; Games Played in 102 Heat

NEW YORK, June 21—(AP)—Walt Dropo drove in four runs with a home run and two singles and Ray Boone clouted a bases-loaded triple to pace the last-place Detroit Tigers to a 10-3 victory over New York in the second game of a doubleheader Sunday after the Yankees had won the opener, 6-3.

Despite the split, the Yankees increased their first-place lead to 11½ games over the Cleveland Indians who were beaten by Washington, 5-1.

Billy Hoeft, with the help of Ned Garver, gained credit for the Tiger victory, his fifth of the season, to give Detroit a split in the four-game series with the world champions. Hoeft yielded nine hits and three runs, retiring after seven innings because of the oppressive heat. At game time, the thermometer read 102 degrees on the field.

Senators' Spec Shea Three-Hits Tribe

WASHINGTON, June 21—(AP)—Spec Shea limited Cleveland to three hits in registering his sixth victory today as Washington defeated the Indians, 5-1. Art Houtteman, making his first start for Cleveland, was the victim of jittery infield play which cost the Indians three runs in the first inning.

PARIS, June 21—(AP)—Pharamond III, owned by R. Landon, won the grand steeplechase De Paris Sunday, beating out H. Aubert's Radium and Tournay, which was third. The favorite, Jean Stern's Fifrelet, failed to finish in the money.

Holloman Two-Hitter Gives Browns Split

BOSTON, June 21—(AP)—Bobo Holloman, with an assist from ageless Satchel Paige, blanked the Boston Red Sox 2-0 on two hits in the second game of a double-header today, ending a St. Louis Browns losing streak which had run through six games. The Sox, with Skinny Brown twirling a flashy three-hitter, won the opener, 3-1.

Goodloe Breezes To Crown

Wins Okefenokee With 275 Total

WAYCROSS, June 21—(AP)—W. L. (Dynamite) Goodloe Jr. of Valdosta breezed around the final 18 holes of the Okefenokee Invitation Golf tournament here Sunday in his fourth subpar round to set a new tournament record and finish six strokes ahead of 175 amateurs.

Goodloe Sunday shot what for him was just another week-end round as he started out on the final 18 nine strokes ahead of second place. His round Sunday was a one-under-par 71. Goodloe finished the front nine two under and came home one over as his putter stuttered.

The 5-5, 220-pounder, added the 71 to rounds of 69, 66, 69 for a 72-hole total of 275—one stroke under the record for the Okefenokee set two years ago by Arnold Blum of Macon.

In second place was Scotty Fraser of Panama City, Fla., who shot a final round of 68, best of the day. Fraser's four-under round left Don Bisplinghoff of Orlando, Fla., with whom he was tied Saturday in second place, four strokes back in third. Four strokes behind Bisplinghoff came Macon's Jack Morgan, who fired a one-under-par round Sunday to come up from seventh place.

J. D. Cann of Jacksonville, Fla., was the winner in the championships' B division as he turned in his first subpar round—a 71—to finish three strokes ahead of Larry Moore of Moultrie, who had a 72-hole total of 301. In third place was Waycross' Dick Saunders, who had a 302. In fourth, one stroke behind, was Pete Coleman of Brunswick.

Athletics, White Sox Divide Doubleheader

PHILADELPHIA, June 21—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics ended a four-game losing streak with a barrage of extra base blows to whip the Chicago White Sox 5-0 in the opener of a twin bill today and then fell apart at the seams in the nightcap as the Sox won 9-4 on the strength of a five-hit five-run third inning.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Georgia Links Star Gets Best-Ball Win

Condensed From Constitution Wire Reports

Frank Stevenson of Georgia and Joe Moresco of Notre Dame defeated a western tandem Sunday in best-ball matches preceding the NCAA golf tournament opening at Colorado Springs Monday.

Stevenson and Moresco had a 70 against the 71 of Ralph Miller of Southern Cal and Doug Koepcke of Wisconsin. All in all, easterners beat westerners 1-5 over the Broadmoor course.

The 159 collegians will play 18 holes Monday and 18 Tuesday in qualifying to determine the 64 low men for match play starting Wednesday.

LSU's Eddie Merrins is favored. Oklahoma's Jim Vickers beat Merrins on the 36th hole for last year's championship, but Vickers is not back.

Joe Conrad of San Antonio made the greatest comeback in the history of 50 Trans-Mississippi golf tournaments to defeat Vickers, 2-up, in the 36-hole final at Kansas City. Conrad was 6 down after the morning round.

The Detroit Tigers were variously reported to have paid a bonus of between $35,000 and $60,000 to Robert Miller, 17-year-old lefthander from Berwyn, Ill. Miller, 6-1, won 23 and lost six in his prep career. He pitched three no-hitters.

Former Florida ace Harry Coe's pro debut was a sad one. The Montgomery southpaw was raked for 13 hits as the Grays lost to Jacksonville, 3-1, in the South Atlantic League. Ex-Atlanta Cracker catcher Ralph Kennedy homered for Jacksonville.

Chase Riddle's Panama City Fliers are hosts to the Alabama-Florida League all-star game at Panama City Monday night.

Philadelphia Phillies southpaw Curt Simmons says he is in "good shape" again after a foot injury and expects to be pitching in 10 days.

Billy Talbert of New York City won the Colorado Open tennis title at Denver with a 6-3, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4 victory over Noel Brown of Hollywood.

Ham Richardson, Tulane University sophomore, is top-seeded in a field of 72 singles-players in the 69th annual NCAA tennis tournament starting at Syracuse, N. Y., Monday.

American drivers swept the field in the 200-mile American and foreign stock car race at Langhorne, Pa., under a blazing sun that made the oil-covered dirt track slippery and treacherous. First five: Dick Rathman, Indianapolis; Lee Petty, Greensboro, N. C.; Jim Paschall, Hatboro, N. C.; Herb Thomas, Olivia, N. C., and Bill Blair, High Point, N. C. Ray Duhigg, Toledo, suffered a broken arm when his car flipped.

Texans Capture Bird-Shoot Title

VANDALIA, Ill., June 21—(AP)—Eddy Murgard of Dallas, Texas, and Dr. John Roberts Phillips, Houston, shot 40 birds to win the doubles championship of the National Crow Hunters' Association Annual Shoot Sunday.

Saturday Murgard won his third straight singles title and the fourth since he began competition to gain permanent possession of the association's trophy.

Rogers Hornsby Ends Clubhouse Exile for Scribe

CINCINNATI, June 21—(AP)—Manager Rogers Hornsby of the Cincinnati Redlegs Sunday lifted his ban on baseball writer Earl Lawson's entering the club's dressing room.

Hornsby's action followed a peace meeting between himself and the Cincinnati Times-Star sports writer that was arranged by General Manager Gabe Paul.

Lawson was barred from the clubhouse 10 days ago in Philadelphia. Hornsby clamped on the ban after Lawson questioned him about his keeping pitcher Bud Podbielan in while the Brooklyn Dodgers were nailing Podbielan for six runs during an eighth-inning uprising at Brooklyn on June 11. The Brooks won, 9-6.

Revitalized Burke Wins Inverness

Ill Ace Eats, Collects $3,400

TOLEDO, Ohio, June 21—(AP)—Jackie Burke of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., strong as a moose after breaking a two-day fast with a big steak, won the $3,400 top prize in the $18,000 Inverness golf tournament Sunday with a 72-hole score of 272, a dozen under par.

Burke, with a par 71 on the final round of the 16th annual classic, staved off a late flurry by Freddie Haas to whip the long New Orleans lad by two strokes. Haas won $2,400.

Haas, top man for the first two rounds, was five strokes back with six holes to go, and he picked up three in the stretch.

Burke, suffering with influenza, had eaten nothing for two days until Saturday night. He had rounds of 68, 64, 69 and 71 on the par 71 layout which measures 6,545 well-trapped yards.

The transplanted Texan thus rounded out an Inverness story which started in 1920. That year his dad played here in the National Open, tying Britisher Harry Vardon for second place at 296 as Ted Ray of England won with 295.

Another Burke, Billie of Cleveland, won the National Open here in 1931 in a 72-hole playoff with George Von Elm as they tied in the course record figure of 292—which 30-year-old Burke erased by 20 strokes Sunday.

Art Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa., with a closing 69, tied for third Place with Doug Ford of Harrison, N. Y., at 278. Ford wound up with a 70 as the pair won $1,650 each. Skip Alexander was fifth with 280 for $1,200.

Suggs Sets Sights On National Title

Western Champ Leaves For Defense at Rochester

By BERT PRATHER

While Atlantans were still shaking their heads in amazement over the subpar brand of golf Louise Suggs threw at sturdy Patty Berg to win her fourth Western Women's Open Championship Saturday afternoon at Capital City Country Club, the little Atlantan had already set sail for Rochester, N. Y., and a still bigger prize—the United States Golf Association's National Women's Open.

There was no time for celebrating her latest triumph at the Suggs household out on Peachtree Road. It was early to bed Saturday night for Louise. Sunday morning she and pal Jean Hopkins pointed her big blue Cadillac in the direction of Rochester and from now until next Saturday afternoon, only thing on Louise's mind will be successful defense of her National Open crown, which she won with another record-breaking effort at Philadelphia last year.

The open, a 72-hole medal play tournament, begins Thursday and carries a $7,500 purse.

From Rochester, Louise will move on to Plainfield, N. J., and the $7,500 Triangle Round Robin Invitational at Shackamaxon Country Club. Then comes the Tam O'Shanter All-American and World tournaments at Chicago.

Quite a busy schedule for such a tiny lady, but she's enjoying it. After all, when she finishes with these next three, Louise could have $20,000 in purse money alone banked to her account.

Miss Suggs has already broken the single season money-winning mark for Ladies Professional Golfers' Association. She did that when she passed the $15,000 mark.

Saturday's victory by 6 and 5 over Miss Berg, one of the finest feminine players in the game, ran Louise's total to almost $17,000. Patty picked up a check for $500.

When Louise stepped up to receive the Edna Walker trophy from WWGA president Mrs. John Eliot Warner Saturday afternoon, it placed her in that exclusive group of four-time winners of the event with Babe Zaharias and Miss Berg.

The little Atlanta pro kept up her record of winning the Western every time she reached the finals. Patty has been there six times to bat .667.

Though Louise admittedly did not have as tough a draw as did Patty, she played sharp golf throughout. She entered the tournament top favorite, tied for medalist honors with a 75 and then waded methodically to triumphs over young Bebe Smith of Columbus; Marnie Polk of Chattanooga, Tenn.; Major Pat Grant of Ft. McClellan, Ala., and Pat Lesser of Seattle, Wash., before crushing Miss Berg in Saturday's 36-hole finals.

Meanwhile Patty had to dispose of Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Texas; defending champion Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S. C.; Claire Doran of Cleveland, Ohio, and Atlanta's Dorothy Kirby to earn her shot at the feminine counterpart of Ben Hogan.

Even if the places in the draw had been reversed, it is very, very doubtful if Patty could have stood off the precision-like play of Louise. She's proven herself over and over again, to be the LPGA's best medal player, now she had done it at match play too.

Aside from proving once again Miss Suggs' superiority over the field, the Western gave Atlantans a chance to see a rising young star in action. Seattle University coed Pat Lesser definitely stamped herself as one of the finest amateurs today. With three or four more years of experience, she will likely be able to hold her own with the professional aces.

The tournament, which was also played at Capital City in 1947, was a complete success.

Faulk Rated Among Best At Porthcawl

PORTHCAWL, Wales, June 21 (AP)—Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., only American in the field, rates among the top favorites for the British Women's Amateur golf championship starting Monday.

Miss Faulk's free and easy swing, modeled after men golfers in her hometown whom she plays against almost continuously, is built for Royal Porthcawl's 6,658-yard seaside course. The course has been shaved down a few yards as an accommodation for the ladies but par still is 74.

Her first opponent Monday will be Pat O'Sullivan of Tranmore, Ireland. Miss O'Sullivan is not related to the American amateur Pat O'Sullivan of Orange, Conn., and Pinehurst, N. C.

Both Miss Faulk and Miss O'Sullivan drew first-round byes and meet in the second round. The tournament ends Thursday.

On two practice trips around Porthcawl's big links, "I shot approximate 76s," Miss Faulk said. "This is really a tough golf course and it's built where a golf course is supposed to be—on the seaside."

She said she has not been having much trouble with the smaller British ball. "At least I don't think I am. I haven't been watching by practice scores too closely."

The championship field comprises 92 golfers.

(L-R) Bill Wilson, Killinger, Ed White and Don Pinciotti Gleeful Over Home Run

Taylor, who had hurled three hitless innings after replacing Giggie in the fourth, for three runs in the sixth. Killinger's second homer accounted for two, and Floyd Fogg singled home the other run.

Trailing 6-3, the Crackers kayoed Papish and hung the defeat on Bill Black during the five-run seventh. Southpaw Papish served pinch-hitter Dick Donovan, a left-handed hitter, a single to start the spree. He then signed two walks to pack the sacks and handed the reins to Black with one out.

Dick Sinovic greeted Black with a two-run single, and pinch hitter Jack Parks laced a hit into center to bring home another run. Black walked Petty and the Crackers nemesis, Tom Hurd, came on to try his hand. At that point, Mainzer delivered his game-deciding single.

Leo Cristante protected the Atlanta lead for the final two rounds and lingered on to start the second contest. Ken Landenberger's homer and a single by Fogg, in wake of Wilson's double, gave the Chicks a 2-0 margin in the first.

That completed scoring in that game, until Mr. Hurth reaches a decision.

Mauch named Art Fowler (7-5) to face Dick Strahs (9-1) in Monday's game at 8:15.

CRACKER DIARY: Charlie Williams suffered a badly bruised knee when he slid into second base in the third inning of the second game and had to be carried from the field on a stretcher. He'll be sidelined for three or four days. . . . All four pinch hitters came through in the first game. Williams rocked a triple and Jack Parks and Dick Donovan singled for the Crackers. Dixie Howell thumped a single for the Chicks. . . . Crackers continued their long-ball spree in the opener Sunday, mixing a triple and four doubles among 11 hits. In the past four games, 21 of Atlanta's 36 safeties have gone for extra bases. . . . Harry Bright, Memphis candidate for the Southern Association All-Star second baseman, was benched in the first game. Sammy Meeks, who usually operates at short, took over at the keystone. . . . The Crackers will make up a game in New Orleans Wednesday, originally an off day on the schedule. . . . No one is more disturbed over Chuck Tanner's slump than Chuck Tanner. The hustling fly-chaser says it's the worst of his career.

Maxim Seeks Revenge In Title Bout Wednesday

Moore Lays Light Heavy Crown On Line in TV 15-Rounder

NEW YORK, June 21—(AP)—Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore makes his first defense of his title Wednesday night when he faces Joey Maxim, the man he dethroned, in a 15-rounder in Ogden, Utah.

The outdoor bout in the Ogden Stadium will be the state's first world championship fight and the coast-to-coast telecast will be the first network TV show to come out of the city. CBS will telecast the bout starting at 9 p. m. (EST).

Moore, 36, is a 3-to-1 favorite to retain the crown he pursued for so long. He won it by pounding out a unanimous 15-round decision over the 31-year-old Clevelander in St. Louis, Dec. 17.

Since winning his title, Moore has kept busy bowling over heavyweights. He won six fights, five of them by knockouts, and his current victory streak runs to 12. In his only outing since the Moore debacle, Maxim whipped Danny Nardico in 10 rounds on March 4.

The Friday night coast-to-coast radio (ABC) and TV (NBC) bout will come out of New York's Madison Square Garden where ranking middleweights Ernie (The Rock) Durando of Bayonne, N. J., and Joey Giardello of Philadelphia collide in a 10-rounder. This one starts at 9 p. m. (EST).

Saturday night's New York-to-California TV (ABC) bout matches middleweights Ralph (Tiger) Jones of Yonkers, N. Y., and Danny (Bang Bang) Womber of Chicago, in a 10-rounder at Syracuse, N. Y. The bout starts at 8 p. m. (EST). This is their third meeting. Jones won the first and they drew in the second.

Tommy Collins of Boston returns to the ring Thursday night for the first time since he was floored 10 times and stopped by lightweight champion Jimmy Carter on April 24. The deflated Boston golden boy faces Teddy (Red Top) Davis, second-ranking featherweight from Hartford, in a 10 at the Boston Garden Thursday night. This one won't be telecast.

This week's program includes:
Tuesday: At Brooklyn (Ridgewood Grove), Herbie Hayes, New Rochelle, N. Y., vs Al Winn, New York, middles, 10; at Los Angeles, Roman Tiscareno, Juarez, Mexico, vs Santiago Esteban, Pueblo, Colo., lights, 10; Miami Beach, Bobby Dykes, San Antonio, Tex., vs Jackie Keough, Cleveland, middles, 10.
Wednesday: At Ogden, Utah, Archie Moore, St. Louis, vs Joey Maxim, Cleveland, 15, (world light-heavyweight championship).
Thursday: At Boston, Tommy Collins, Boston, vs Teddy (Red Top) Davis, Hartford, feathers, 10; at Newark, N. J., Pat Best, Englewood, N. J., vs Al Rubino, Hoboken, N. J., welters, 8.
Saturday: At Syracuse, N. Y., Danny (Bang Bang) Womber, Chicago, vs Ralph (Tiger) Jones, Yonkers, N. Y., middles, 10; at Hollywood, Juan Luis Campos, Los Angeles, vs Kenny Davis, San Diego, feathers, 10.

Babe Zaharias Tourney Opens Action Monday

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., June 21—(AP)—Golfers across the nation start play Monday in the Babe Zaharias Tournament for the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund.

Tournament Director Otto Fenias said both the Professional Golfers' Association and the United States Golf Association are co-operating in the tournament being run at more than 10,000 golf clubs in this country and Hawaii. The tournament ends Saturday.

Entry fee is $1 and golfers will be shooting at the 71 that Mrs. Zaharias scored in the Serbin Invitational Tournament here last winter. It was her last major competition before undergoing a cancer operation.

OGDEN, Utah, June 21—(AP). Utah heavyweight Rex Layne Sunday asked and got second billing on the light heavyweight championship fight card Wednesday night between Archie Moore and Joey Maxim. "I demand the right to appear on the card so the public can see whether or not either deserves a chance to fight me," he said. Layne will meet with Bob McClure, who recently kayoed Freddie Beshore, in a 10-rounder following the 15- round title fight.

Duluth Gains North Atlanta League Edge

A. C. Holbrook stopped Chamblee with five hits Sunday afternoon as Duluth got off to a fast second-half start by winning, 7-3, in a North Atlanta League contest.

Holbrook's performance was tops among the few games that were not postponed by a rain storm.

Pete Reece solved Holbrook for a home run in the fifth inning.

Dunwoody also got a North Atlanta League win over Doraville, 5-4.

Tell edged Riverdale in the only Flint River League game of the day, 8-4. Tell's Max West belted a home run. Bill Cooke led the winners at the plate with three hits in four trips.

American Thread scored an 8-4 victory over Villa Rica in a West Georgia League contest.

Publinx Qualifiers Hold Trials Today

Sanders, McLennan Choices To Capture Trips to Seattle

Doug Sanders, former National Jaycee Junior golf champion from Cedartown, and Lt. Louis McLennan, home on leave from the Navy after a lengthy tour of duty in Korean waters, head a field of 54 players who will seek to qualify for the 28th USGA Amateur Public Links Championships at Seattle, Wash., in the Georgia sectional Monday at Bobby Jones golf course.

Low six in Monday's 36-hole qualifying test will take up the Atlanta squad which Walter (Pop) Herrington, USGA's sectional chairman, will carry to Seattle.

The first, second and third qualifiers will represent Atlanta in the team championship, which is scheduled for July 11 at West Seattle Municipal Golf Course. All six of the local qualifiers will tee off in the championship proper, July 13-18. Chairman Herrington and his local delegation will leave here by plane July 9.

Although Sanders and McLennan, a former Duke University golf team captain and Southern Conference champion, are rated top contenders, they by no means have a lock on qualifying spots.

Five members of last year's team, which made a creditable showing at Miami, will be in there pitching Monday. They are, Tommy Bean of Trion; James Stamps, College Park; J. D. Croxton; Adams Park; Fred Sanders, North Fulton, and Leon Butler, Bobby Jones course.

First threesome will swing off at 9 a. m. —PRATHER

NCAA Kings—Trojans, Illini— To Clash in Dual Meet Tuesday

LINCOLN, Neb., June 2—(AP)—The powerful track men of the Universities of Southern California and Illinois, who led the field at the National Collegiate Athletic Association meet here Friday and Saturday, will clash again this week.

Southern Cal will lead the Pacific Conference crew against the best of the Big Ten conference, led by Illinois, in a dual meet at Ann Arbor Tuesday.

The Trojans amassed 80 points at the NCAA meet. Their closest competitor was Illinois, with 41.

The Trojans had depth, but they also had the men who were good enough to get those 10 big points that went with first place.

Southern Cal copped six first places. There was Parry O'Brien in the shot, Dick Genther in the javelin, Jim Lea in the 440, Sim Iness with the discus, and durable Jack Davis in both the high and low hurdles.

Those five men accounted for 68 of Southern Cal's points. O'Brien added another eight with his second place in the discus.

On the other hand, the Illini captured only one first place. That was when Willie Williams scampered home in front in the 100-yard dash. The balance of the Illinois points came from place winners.

Wes Santee of Kansas won the mile in 4:03.7, the second fastest mile ever run by an American. The best American performance, turned in by Santee previously in California, was 4:02.4.

Davis went over the high hurdles in :14 and over the lows in :23.3.

Two Southern Cal stars will be trying to better their own world records at the dual meet. A few minutes after Sim Iness tossed the discus out 190 feet, ⅞ of an inch here he said he would be shooting for a longer heave at Ann Arbor and at the AAU meet in Dayton this week end.

"That was an easy throw, it went real smooth," he said, referring to the record heave. So if Sim gets off another "easy throw" this week, the records may have to be revised again.

And O'Brien, of course, will be aiming beyond the 59 feet, 2⅝-inch mark he set for a world record at Compton, Calif., early this month.

Rising Costs, Dwindling Enrollment Posing Problem for Colleges of U. S.

New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

NEW YORK, June 21—Nearly half of all the independent institutions of higher education in the United States are in financial difficulty, unable to balance their budgets. Financial problems beset the colleges and universities to a greater extent than ever before.

Although tuition rates have risen to a record high for both public and private colleges, inflationary costs and slackening enrollment have put higher education through an academic wringer.

Unfortunately, the student is the one who will suffer most. The cost of going — including room and board—has increased by 70 per cent in the last 10 years. Worthy students, educators fear, are being frozen out of college by the high cost.

A study of 810 American colleges and universities of all types in every state, conducted by The New York Times, shows deep concern over their financial situation, which is expected to get worse before it starts getting better.

DRIVE FOR FUNDS

To meet growing deficits, colleges are now engaged in extensive fund-raising campaigns for an aggregate of $1,150,000,000. But the public is not responding as readily as it did in past years. Eighty-two per cent of the college heads report that it is harder to raise money now than it was a year ago—or 10 years ago.

The question of increased tuition fees weighs upon college officials. In 1942-43 the average annual fee in the public colleges was $91. In 1952-53 it is $128 and in 1953-54 it will be $134—a 46 per cent increase in 11 years.

Tuition rates in private colleges have risen even higher. In 1942-43 the fee was $266, in 1952-53 it was $446, and in 1953-54 it is estimated at $461—a 71 per cent increase.

TUITION SOARING

The averages do not tell the whole story. Many of the better-name institutions now charge $700 to $900 for tuition. It is not unusual for the leading women's colleges to charge $1,800 to $2,200, their figures including board and room as well as tuition.

Moreover, the total annual cost has gone up in both public and private institutions.

In 1942-43 the student could attend a public college for about $450 a year. In September it will be nearer $700. During the same period, the cost of attending a private college has mounted from $715 to $1,132.

A danger exists that the services and standards of the colleges may be curtailed under financial pressures. Some institutions report that insufficient operating income has forced academic retrenchments. Twelve per cent of the public and 18 per cent of the independent colleges told the Times they had curtailed facilities for students.

Trumans Motor Back To Capital

New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, June 21—Former President Harry S. Truman returned to Washington tonight for his first visit since leaving the White House on inauguration day last Jan. 20.

He arrived in shirt-sleeves and driving his own car, a recently purchased black Chrysler sedan. Pulling up before the Mayflower Hotel, he was greeted by a number of photographers and reporters, some of whom he recognized from White House days.

But his only announcement tonight was that he would not hold a news conference.

"Very happy to be back," was about all he had to say.

Then putting his arms into a blue jacket he walked over to the room clerk, checked in and asked to be shown the suite he and Mrs. Truman are to occupy for the next few days.

They moved into a sixth floor suite that had been redecorated last January when it was rumored the Trumans might stay on in Washington for a while after leaving the White House.

Earlier, as he stopped for gasoline in Frederick, Md., he told greeters he was coming to Washington "just to have a good time."

"I'm not going to do anything if I can help it," he said. "I'm going to have one or two meetings on that library."

'Can't Take Heat'; Farmer Shoots Self

STAATSBURG, N. Y., June 21—(AP)—It was a sizzling 93 degrees here today and in midafternoon George Edward Rowe, a 57-year-old farmer, told members of his family:

"I can't take this heat any more."

Later the family heard a shot. They found Rowe back of a barn with a bullet wound in his head.

Cottonseed Support Price Cut to $54.50

WASHINGTON, June 21—(AP)—The Agriculture department announced today a reduction in support prices for cottonseed in a move aimed at halting heavy accumulation of supplies by the government.

The base support price for the 1953 crop was set at $54.50 a ton compared with last year's $66.40 for grade 100 cotton seed. The new rate is designed to reflect 75 per cent of parity compared with last year's 90 per cent.

The department said the new rates should make cotton seed products—such as oil, meal and linters—competitive in commercial markets with products of other oil seeds, such as soybeans, peanuts and flaxseed as well as imported vegetable oils.

100 Model Airplanes Forced Down by Storm

Hail and a thunderstorm forced more than 100 planes to the deck at the Naval Air Station Sunday afternoon.

Some came in by radio control, some with their engines off. A few ships, not so lucky, hit an up current of air and kept climbing.

All pilots escaped with nothing worse than a wet shirt.

The station's heavy traffic was due to the 15th Annual Southeastern Model Airplane Championship, halted briefly by the weather.

The contestants, in true barnstorming spirit, had their ships in the air again within an hour to finish the final events of the two-day meet.

A feature of the stunt flying, free flights and radio control model meet Sunday was an exhibition given by Jim Walker of Portland, Ore., who flew three planes simultaneously.

Should Saloonkeeper Get Loan From U. S.?

By HERB ALTSCHULL

WASHINGTON, June 21 — (AP) — Should the government lend money to a person who wants to pretty up a lady's hair? Or to a saloon-keeper?

Yes, says Sen. Capehart (R-Ind).

No, says Sen. Monroney (D-Okla).

The Senate will pass on these questions among others tomorrow when the economic controls bill gets another going over.

Monroney and Capehart got into quite a hassle when the bill was debated Thursday, but what with one thing and another it didn't get much public attention.

Capehart, chairman of the Senate Banking Committee and sponsor of the bill, said the measure would eliminate present requirements that the government may lend no money to a small businessman unless it is to be used in the national interest.

Up rose Monroney to ask: "Would it include the financing of a hairdressing establishment?"

"I see nothing in the bill which would prevent such a loan being made," said Capehart.

"I take it," observed Monroney, "saloons would be eligible for loans?"

Capehart told him he saw no reason why hairdressers and saloonkeepers shouldn't get loans.

"Saloons are legalized businesses," he said. "The same is true of any branch of the liquor business. A hairdressing establishment is certainly a very fine institution."

Monroney "may be against the hairdressers if he wishes," Capehart said. "I am not. I should like to lend them a little money."

Monroney quickly got it on record that he has nothing against hairdressers either.

The argument may be resumed tomorrow.

3,300,000 Vet Loans In 9 Yrs.

WASHINGTON, June 21—(AP)—The GI Bill of Rights for World War II veterans, nine years old today, has provided loans for 3,300,000 ex-servicemen, education for 7,800,000 and readjustment allowances for 9,000,000 vets.

The Veterans' Administration said former GI's have proven "excellent loan risks."

W. Germany Honors Men Slain in Riot

BERLIN, June 21 (AP) — Memorial services were held here and in Bonn today for Willi Goettling, who died before a Russian firing squad, and 16 other Germans shot and killed in last week's anti-Communist revolt in Soviet East Germany.

Goettling's young widow and their two daughters attended the services here in the city assembly hall. They heard Dr. Otto Suhr, assembly president read the names of the dead and say they had "fulfilled the testament" of Germans who died for freedom.

Her sorrow was intensified by Russian refusal so far to return Goettling's body from East Berlin, where he was condemned before a Soviet drumhead court as an organizer of the sudden workers' uprising against Red rule.

Mrs. Goettling said her frail and bespectacled husband, 35, a truck driver who had been jobless for two years because of a heart ailment, was on his way to get his meager relief check when he was innocently involved in the rebellion in the Russian zone.

In Bonn, West German President Theodore Heuss appealed to the Russians to "shed no more blood" but to grant free elections for which victims in the revolt gave their lives.

He spoke at a memorial service in the federal Parliament building. In the audience were Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, members of his government, the diplomatic corps and delegations of refugees from East Berlin and the Russian zone.

All flags remained at half staff for the third day of public mourning.

'Most Wanted' Fugitive Nabbed On Bay Bridge

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21—(UP)—Donald Charles Fitterer, 28, one of the nation's "10 most wanted" fugitives, surrendered meekly today after 10 federal agents and highway patrolmen trapped him on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay bridge.

"I knew it was coming," he said, when officers halted his car shortly after he left the toll plaza heading toward Oakland.

Patrolmen said Fitterer was unarmed and "very co-operative" when ordered to halt.

FBI agents said they learned from an anonymous letter that Fitterer, wanted in a Lee County, Iowa, slaying, would be crossing the bridge this afternoon.

House Will Extend Tax --Humphrey

By CLAYTON KNOWLES
New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, June 21—George M. Humphrey, secretary of the Treasury, confidently predicted today that the administration - backed proposal to extend the excess profits tax for six months, now locked in the House ways and means committee, will be reported and passed.

He said the favorable House action which he hoped would come this week "does not necessarily depend" on persuading Representative Reed of New York, the committee chairman, to bring the matter up for a vote.

"But that's the way I hope it will be," said Humphrey.

The secretary did not explain the basis for his optimism. He said he had not attended the meeting Saturday at the White House which brought together Reed, who favors a tax cut on June 30, and President Eisenhower, who has barred tax reduction before Dec. 31, and therefore could not report on the talks.

Nor did Reed expand over the week end on his original succinct observation that he had "a very friendly visit" with Eisenhower.

The Republican House leadership tentatively scheduled consideration of a tax bill for the latter part of this week. Representative Halleck of Indiana, the majority leader, explained that this was done solely to be ready for the tax bill if one should be reported.

Humphrey, interviewed on the "Man of the Week" television program, said he respected Reed's "very definite opinions" on the tax question but asserted he had "an entirely different opinion."

Hundreds Search L. A. County For Girl, 8, Believed Kidnaped

LOS ANGELES, June 21—(AP)—Hundreds of sheriff's deputies and volunteers spread out through the southeast section of Los Angeles County today as fears mounted for the safety of an 8-year-old girl, missing since Saturday night.

Reports that the blue-eyed and blond little girl, Stella Darlene Nolan, was with an unidentified middle-aged man shortly before she disappeared from a public auction area increased the fear of kidnaping.

While the search expanded through fields and backyards in the Downey-Norwalk area the worried parents waited at a search headquarters.

The mother, Mrs. Owen Nolan, said the girl had decided to give a Father's Day gift to her dad Saturday. "I remember what she said," Mrs. Nolan told a reporter. "'You know, mommie, I think I'll give daddy his card today. You can't tell what's going to happen, and I think I'll give him his gift, too.'" The gift was a bottle of her father's favorite hair lotion.

The card read: "Dear Father, I hope you have a very happy Father's Day. From Darlene to you."

Prisoner Suffers Fractured Skull In Fall at Jail

Clyde Elmo Hutchinson, 52, a prisoner at City Jail, was found lying on the floor of his cell early Sunday, bleeding from the mouth, police said.

Another prisoner, who called the turnkey, said he saw Hutchinson fall in his cell.

The injured prisoner was taken immediately to Grady Hospital where doctors admitted him with a fractured skull.

Hutchinson's address is listed by police as 394 Sinclair Ave., N. E. Records show he was jailed for drunkenness Saturday.

It is estimated that about 1 per cent of the value of farm sales is used for pest control.

Cities' Rents Averaged $44 in 1952

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP) — Renters of city homes paid an average of about $44.17 a month last year for their houses and apartments, the Commerce Department reported today.

Their rent payments added up to a bill of 10 billion dollars for the year. Landlords averaged a net return of close to 25 per cent of the rents they collected, or about 2½ billion dollars.

The department's Office of Business Economics said rents are a less important part of the national income than they were 20 years ago.

This is partly because rents have risen less than other prices, it said, and partly because of the strong movement toward home ownership. More than half of all housing has been owner-occupied since World War II.

LEGION'S CHOICE

Nazi-Persecuted Youth Attending Boys State

A 17-year-old Milledgeville youth, whose childhood years were trampled under the merciless boot of the Nazi regime, arrived in Atlanta Sunday to take part in Boys State, a workshop in democratic citizenship.

Herbert Rose, whose father and many other relatives were put to death in gas chambers along the ruthless path of Hitler's armies through Europe, knows better than most what it means to live in America.

Herbert Rose

An aptitude for leadership is one of the primary requirements for participation in Boys State, and Herbert was demonstrating this trait at the age of four.

His younger brother, David, was too young to recognize a member of the Gestapo, but Herbert trained him well with the simple and oft-repeated command, "when I run, you run!"

Sunday Herbert and 289 other high school boys, sponsored by 125 Georgia posts of the American Legion, began transforming Harrison Hall at Georgia Tech into a miniature state divided into 12 cities and three counties.

WILL PICK OFFICIALS

The boys will choose city officials Monday, county officers Tuesday and state officers Thursday. The Boys State governor and his staff will be inaugurated at the State Capitol Friday.

Herbert, who is on the merit list at Georgia Military College, said Sunday he expects to take an active part in Boys State politics.

He, David, their mother and stepfather, Dr. Leon Freeman, came to the United States in June, 1948.

They lived for two years in Atlanta where Herbert and David entered school—after studying the English language for only three months. They now live in Milledgeville where Dr. Freeman is a member of the medical staff at the State Hospital.

MARRIED TO DOCTOR

Herbert's mother was married to Dr. Freeman, a cousin of Herbert's father, soon after the end of World War II.

"I replied that I wished to continue looking after my own children," Herbert's mother explained, "and soon he came to see us. Now we are all looking after one another."

Hearing Mrs. Freeman recount the harrowing experiences that were the family's daily lot after the fall of France—the month-after-month existence in cellar hideaways and eventual imprisonment in concentration camps—the listener is struck by the bright thread of gaiety she weaves through her accounts, and wonders aloud at the absence of bitterness.

The answer comes, even before she speaks, in the quick protective glance toward her two boys and the sly smile inviting her visitor in on a conspiracy.

And then: "Oh, one might not have known what was going to happen from one day to the next. But you see, it could be made—how do you say—exciting. One could turn it into a kind of game, a battle of wits between you and the Gestapo."

It isn't hard, then to understand why Herbert and David today are so much like their American-born contemporaries; why they "don't remember" many of their more wretched hardships, yet do recall readily enough the spirit of adventure.

How well this family has succeeded in shaping new life for each member is touchingly apparent. There is Dr. Freeman's deep gratitude for an opportunity to provide for their needs; the mother's boundless pride in her sons and their merit-list records in the high school of Georgia Military College. And there is Herbert's plan to study medicine, and David's hope for a career in research.

Fathers' Day Finds Antelope Proud Papa

PHILADELPHIA, June 21—(AP)—Curator Roger Conant proudly announced today that the Philadelphia zoo had observed Father's Day in an appropriate manner—the zoo's lone male African antelope became a father for the second time.

Because newly born African antelopes frighten easily, no immediate attempt was made to determine the sex of the arrival.

2 Children Bitten By Dogs Here

A 4-year-old boy and a 14-year-old girl were reported bitten by dogs Sunday.

Lester Thomas Grant, 4, Douglasville was bitten on the left arm and leg while on a visit to 201 Lois Pl., N. W. Jeannelle Alexander of 450 Washington St., S. E., said someone "sicked" a dog on her at Pulliam St. She was bitten on the knee.

Both were treated at Grady Hospital and dismissed.

CONSTIPATED?

Then read how T. M. Edwards gets such wonderful, speedy relief from constipation!

"I used to have many a day ruined because of constipation," says T. M. Edwards of Birmingham, Ala. "I'd wake up feeling logy—go through half the day before I'd get relief. Then I read about Sal Hepatica's gentle, speedy relief. Figured I'd try Sal Hepatica myself. Man, what a happy discovery! Why, when I'm constipated now, I take Sal Hepatica just before breakfast, get speedy relief usually within an hour!"

Yes, that's how to avoid "Laxative Lag"* with Sal Hepatica. Sal Hepatica gives speedy, gentle relief from constipation . . . sweetens sour stomach, too! So keep Sal Hepatica handy in your medicine chest.

Talmadge To Address Big Brothers

Governor Talmadge will address a dinner meeting of the Big Brothers' Association of the Fulton County Juvenile Court at 6 p. m. Monday at the court.

Some 25 new members will join the organization after a five-hour orientation course which starts at 4 p. m. and includes the dinner meeting, according to Judge W. W. Woolfolk of the Fulton County Juvenile Court.

Members of the Big Brothers' Association supplement the work of probation officers. Each member is assigned to a juvenile who appears before the court and acts as the youngster's "big brother" giving him personal guidance and encouragement.

Gov. Francis Cherry and Executive Secretary Ken Francis of Arkansas will be among guests attending the course. They will make a special trip to Atlanta by plane, arriving at 2 p. m., in order to collect data which may aid in the solution of juvenile problems in Arkansas.

Members of the Juvenile Court Citizens Advisory Committee and county officials will attend the dinner, Judge Woolfolk said.

Speakers during Monday's course will orient new members, most of whom are members of the Atlanta Rotary Club and Downtown Kiwanis Club, on child psychology, sociology, philosophy and recreational therapy.

Judge Woolfolk said the Big Brothers Association, which is in its first year of activity, has produced "excellent results."

"The juvenile court is constantly striving to improve the service rendered to the children who cross its portals," Judge Woolfolk said. "Some of the boys who come before the court need adult friendships to help them overcome their problems. The Big Brothers serve this purpose."

The first orientation course was held by the association two months ago for 25 members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Judge Woolfolk said all civic organizations have been invited to participate in the Big Brothers Association.

TREE CRUSHES CAR IN ATLANTA THUNDERSTORM

Dale Robertson Surveys Damage To His Mother's Auto At 1953 Piedmont Road, N. E.

6 Die in Georgia Traffic; Train Kills Youth Here

Six Georgians died in week-end traffic, five from automobile mishaps and a sixth when struck by a train, the State Patrol and Atlanta police reported.

A man tentatively identified by city police as Roy Graham, 21, of Tifton was killed when struck by an Atlanta and West Point Railroad freight train in Atlanta Sunday. Officers said several witnesses reported seeing the man asleep on the tracks.

Mrs. Dorothy Williams, 29, of Americus and Rhine, was fatally injured when a car in which she was riding turned over three times at 2:30 a. m. Sunday 7 miles east of Cordele on U. S. Highway 280.

Dian Riley, 4-year-old Negro girl, was killed at 1:30 p. m. Sunday when struck by a car in Gainesville.

Gainesville police reported that the driver, George Robert Fortson of Gainesville, was charged with driving under the influence of intoxicants and operating a vehicle with insufficient brakes.

Charlie Stephens, 61, Negro, of Parrott, was killed at 1 a. m. Sunday when his car crashed into a truck parked on Georgia Highway 55, four miles north of Parrott, the patrol reported.

Fred Howard, 33, Negro, was crushed to death after being thrown out of his car at 7:15 p. m. Saturday on Georgia Highway 12, four miles east of Warrenton. The patrol reported Howard's car overturned and rolled over his body after he was thrown from the vehicle.

John Elmer Teasley, 41, of Rt. 3, Elberton, died Saturday on Highway 82, 11 miles east of Elberton, the patrol reported. State troopers said the car occupied by Teasley went out of control and overturned.

Ex-Dragon Says Klan Is Extinct

Hiram W. Evans, national leader of the Ku Klux Klan in its prime, said Sunday that the hooded order "is practically extinct . . . and there's little need for it anyway."

Bill Hendrix, a Tallahassee contractor and former grand dragon of the Florida KKK, announced Saturday night that Klan representatives from six states met at Columbus to revive the Klan to fight non-segregation.

Evans, imperial wizard of the Klan from 1922 to 1939, when it was a potent political force and claimed a membership of 8,000,000 at one time, said that such meetings were "little abortive things."

"I don't think there's any need for the Klan anymore," he said. "We are pretty well united and we have a good president."

When asked if he was invited to attend the meeting, Evans said the only thing he knew about it was what "I read in the newspapers."

Hendrix called non-segregation "a Communist program to take over America," and he said the 299 Klansmen and sympathizers purportedly attending the meeting vowed to oppose the National Council of Churches, "modernist" preachers, the new Bible, the Anti-Defamation League and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"We will fight by every means to protect our constitutional rights, even if we are forced to bear arms," Hendrix said.

Representatives from Georgia, South Carolina, Florida, Ohio, Missouri and Pennsylvania elected him imperial emperor at the meeting, he added.

FEDERAL BEAT

Budget Cuts Stir Worker 'Bumpings'

By ANNE GOWEN

Government workers in Atlanta are in the midst of a "bumping" routine that could do credit to a veteran trolley rider fighting rush-hour crowds.

But it's no joke to the 25,000 federal employees in this city. Their jobs may depend on the outcome.

"Bumping" is special government slang for the practice by which one employee takes the job of another employee farther down in the office hierarchy.

This employee in turn may "bump" another employee of lesser rank, and so on down to the lowliest file clerk.

The "bumping" epidemic is a result of Republican budget cuts which caused each federal agency to abolish a certain number of jobs.

As Civil Service Regional Director O. E. Myers explained it, the employee whose job is abolished in the first place seldom is the man finally dismissed from the agency.

PRIORITY COUNTS

"Employees who have job priority because of Civil Service status, veteran preference or length of service can "bump" workers in lower-grade jobs, as long as the first employees can do the work of the lower jobs satisfactorily," Myers said.

Take for example an assistant chief of a food program of the Production Marketing Administration regional office here.

The assistant chief held a job at grade GS-11, with a salary range of $5,940 to $6,940 a year. His job was abolished as an economy measure.

But the GS-11 was a veteran and there was a non-veteran holding a GS-9 job in the auditing office for the same food program, so the GS-11 bumped the GS-9 and took the auditing job at a salary of from $5,080 to $5,610.

CHAIN REACTION

The GS-9 then was forced to bump a GS-4 clerical worker at a salary of from $3,175 to $3,656.

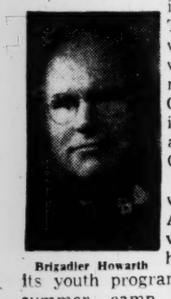
The same thing is happening in the Civil Aeronautics Administration, Commerce department, Veterans Administration, Civil Service Commission, Third Army and other agencies which have had to meet budget cuts with personnel reductions.

At present, bumping is confined within each government department.

New Orleans SA Duty Set For Howarths

Brigadier and Mrs. Kenneth Howarth, who have served as divisional commanders of the Salvation Army in Atlanta for five years, have been transferred to New Orleans, effective July 15, Salvation Army headquarters here announced Sunday.

They will be succeeded here by Senior Maj. and Mrs. William Powell, who have been stationed in New Orleans.



Brigadier Howarth

The Howarths will serve as divisional commanders in New Orleans, taking in the Louisiana and Mississippi Gulf Coast area.

Since the Howarths came to Atlanta the Salvation Army has expanded its youth program, launching a summer camp at Grandview near Jasper where 400 boys and girls from congested downtown areas with vacation this summer.

With the aid of the Variety Club it has improved the recreation center on the Bankhead Highway and has established a community center on Carroll St. Six classrooms have been added to the Lakewood center, where religious services are conducted regularly.

Mrs. Howarth

Under the leadership of Mrs. Howarth, who has been responsible for the women's work of the Salvation Army, a woman's auxiliary has been organized and the League of Mercy program of visitation in 12 institutions, including hospitals and jails, has been expanded.

The Howarths are the parents of twins, 18-year-old Kenneth and Karol Anne, who were graduated from Grady High School this month.

STORM DARKENS ATLANTA IN MID-AFTERNOON

Bolt Blamed In Home Fire

98 AT ROME

Rain also brought some respite from the heat over the state. Rome recorded 98 degrees; Columbus, Valdosta and Macon, 96; Albany and Augusta, 94, and Alma, 93.

Elsewhere in the nation it was a hot Sunday with temperatures in the 90s reported in New York, Massachusetts, Ohio and most of the Midwestern and Southwestern states.

In New York, three persons were killed by bolts of lightning that struck a crowded Bronx swimming pool, a boating area and a park Sunday.

The dead were listed as Estelle Seigal, 30; Joseph Aronica, 26, and George Sable, 25.

Lock-Out Blamed For Gashed Arm

A 42-year-old man severed an artery while knocking the glass out of his own back door, police reports said Sunday.

W. C. Stephens, 42, of 2495 Baxter Road, S. W., told police he knocked the glass out with his fist after his wife apparently locked him out, according to a report.

He was booked on charges of being drunk and disorderly-disturbance after emergency treatment at Grady Hospital.

Sweden was an important factor in the settlement of what is now the United States, having founded a colony on the Delaware River in 1638.

FAREWELL RITES

Dr. Horton Is Honored At St. Mark

Some 400 members of the St. Mark Methodist Church attended a reception at the church Sunday afternoon honoring Dr. John L. Horton, pastor, who is being transferred to the St. John Methodist Church in Memphis next Sunday.

Dr. Horton has been pastor of the St. Mark Church for four years. The reception was given by the Women's Society of Christian Service and the Board of Stewards.

A $1,000 bond was presented Dr. and Mrs. Horton by Oby Brewer, retiring chairman of the Board of Stewards, as a gift of appreciation from the congregation.

Dr. Horton's successor will be named by Bishop Arthur J. Moore on Friday at the conclusion of a meeting of the North Georgia Conference of the Methodist Church. The meeting is scheduled to begin Monday at the Wesley Memorial Church in Atlanta.

Mother, 6 Children Drown; Car in Canal

MARIAKERKE, Belgium, June 21 (AP)—A 32-year-old mother and six of her seven children drowned today when their car skidded off the road and fell into the Ghent-Bruges Canal.

Gainesville's Wood Heads State VFW; Augusta Chosen

Joe T. Wood of Gainesville was elected state commander Sunday of the Georgia department, Veterans of Foreign Wars, as the organization closed its 11th annual encampment.

Wood, who served as senior vice-commander of the organization last year, and all other officers elected here Sunday gained office without opposition. Wood succeeds Asa D. Kelly Jr. of Albany.

Only business of the day was an early morning business session and nomination and election of officers, with the encampment closing at noon.

Other new officers are Roland T. Richardson, Griffin, senior vice-commander; Randolph Medlock, Stone Mountain, junior vice-commander; Kelso Hearn, Monroe, quartermaster; William M. Townson, Dublin, judge advocate; the Rev. Julian Lively, Augusta, chaplain; Dr. Charles R. Andrews, Canton, surgeon, and John C. Cavin, Summerville, member of the welfare and service committee.

Next year's VFW encampment will be held at Augusta. Exact date, however, has not been set.

The organization Saturday adopted a resolution urging enactment of a lew requiring draftage men who receive deferments to enlist in the National Guard or some reserve group.

A story in Saturday's Constitution incorrectly identified a memorial service speaker as James V. Carmichael. The speaker was James L. Carmichael of Swainsboro, former VFW state commander.

Amvets Plan July Meet In Athens

American Veterans of World War II and Korea plan to make their annual Amvet convention in Athens July 24-26 the best since the initial convention in 1947, according to Don Rigsby, Amvet public relations officer for Georgia.

A planning committee for the convention met Saturday in Athens and State Commander John Crowder of Savannah named Lt. Col. J. C. Danley of Atlanta General Depot Post No. 3 as chairman of the convention's constitution and by-laws committee.

Meanwhile, the organization's women's auxiliary also planned a convention agenda announced by Miss Elvira Matthews of Atlanta, department president. This will include an open house meeting, memorial services presided over by Mrs. Imogene Wingo of Atlanta, and a commander's ball, honoring Mrs. Larry Matthews, national auxiliary historian and public relations officer.

is less likely to happen on CONCRETE

You're driving along on light-colored concrete at night. Suddenly you pass onto a dark pavement. Your heart leaps. You can't see. Are your headlights out?

You slow down. You're thankful nothing happened in those few seconds of blackout.

You're driving on a wet, dark-surfaced road. A child darts out. You slam on the brakes but the wheels don't grab. Your stomach falls as you skid helplessly.

It's a relief to get on concrete again. You know its gritty surface will grip your tires and hold, wet or dry.

Concrete's high light reflectance and skid resistance make it the safety pavement. In Georgia a study of accidents due to road conditions on 2115 miles of federal routes showed there were 2.38 times as many accidents, 3.25 times as many deaths, 4.11 times as many injuries and 4.02 times as much property damage on the other most commonly built pavement as on concrete.

Your license fees, gas and other taxes pay for roads. So put safety first—for yourself, family, friends and neighbors. Insist on portland cement concrete, the safety pavement. You'll get an extra measure of protection.

WIDOW RUNS HOME FOR HELPLESS CHILDREN

AT DOUGLASVILLE

Helpless Children Find A Haven With Widow

By KATHERINE BARNWELL
Constitution Staff Writer

DOUGLASVILLE, June 21—A Douglasville widow, who belives "there's a place in the world for even the most helpless child," is operating a home here for mentally and physically handicapped children who have been diagnosed as "not trainable."

A GREAT NEED

Mrs. Leona Waters, who founded the home "because there was such a great need for it," said the children—aged two days to 12 years—are from all over Georgia and several other states.

"Most of them are helpless," she said, "but all of them respond to love and affection."

Mrs. Waters, a large, motherly, smiling-faced woman, picked up a frail, three-year-old child and told her she was "a beautiful little girl."

"When I brag on Linda," Mrs. Waters explained, "she always smiles."

Despite her age, Linda weighs only 12 pounds. Mrs. Waters said she weighed only nine pounds when she came to the home three months ago. She has microcephalus (an abnormally small head) and cannot be cured—but Mrs. Waters insists she "enjoys life as much as the rest of us."

MANY HANDICAPS

Several children in the home are deficient because of brain injuries. Other handicapping conditions represented are Mongolism, severe epilepsy, severe cerebral palsy, hydracephalus (a condition marked by an abnormally large head and spinal bifidity (a split spine).

Mrs. Waters said her home is the only one in Georgia besides Gracewood that provides custodial care for helpless children who cannot be trained.

After operating a nursing home for elderly people in Atlanta, Mrs. Waters moved to Douglasville in 1945. The first child she gave nursing care was a little girl named Pat who had spinal bifidity. Mrs. Waters said after Pat died she "cried and cried . . . and then I decided to try to help other children like Pat."

The Waters Nursing Home outgrew a seven-room house, and Mrs. Waters moved the children to a 20-room white frame house last February. She also admitted 10 elderly patients for nursing care.

FIRE PRECAUTIONS

But no sooner had she enlarged her home than complications arose. A deputy state fire marshal from Georgia Fire Commissioner Zack Cravey's office inspected the home and told Mrs. Waters it must be made to conform with fire safety regulations—or be closed.

"How can I close the home?" she asks. "What would happen to all my babies?"

Mrs. Waters said she had been ordered to widen all doors to 42 inches, install two fire chutes and a fire alarm system.

She said she already has begun making the required changes—and is trying to raise the money to finish the job.

F. B. Reinero, deputy state fire marshal, said he had inspected the Waters home and cited necessary changes. He said Mrs. Waters had indicated she would cooperate, and he does not think her home will be closed "as long as she continues to co-operate."

NONPROFIT BASIS

Mrs. Waters said she always has operated the home on a nonprofit basis and all she gets is her "living." She has four Negro practical nurses by day and two at night. She explained she herself is the "chief cook."

Mother of two grown children, Mrs. Waters is assisted at the home by her married daughter, Mrs. T. H. Fargason.

"People can't understand why we have a home of this kind," Mrs. Waters admitted. "One woman who came here said no amount of money in the world could persuade her to work with children who have so little intelligence. . . . But I really love these children, and I try to do everything possible to make them happy."

Rude Awakening

A 40-year-old Negro woman, awakened from a nap, she said by her husband beating her on the head with a hammer, was treated at Grady Hospital for a bruised scalp and dismissed Sunday.

Cars Bump; 2 Drivers Assaulted

Two motorists were assaulted Sunday when tempers flared following minor collisions, police reported. Assailants in both cases escaped.

Wilbur M. Hopkins, 35, of 2856 Third Ave., Hapeville, suffered a broken right leg when, he told police, a short, heavyset man kicked him as a tall companion struck him in the face after Hopkins' car bumped another vehicle at a Stewart Ave., S. W., drive-in.

Harry Kraar, 39, of 2924 Blvd., N. E., said he was beaten about the face by two men who bumped his car at a red light at Boulevard and Memorial Dr., according to police. He was treated at Grady Hospital.

Kraar gunned his motor and escaped after the men began beating him. Police said he had a large sum of money in his possession, and robbery might have been the motive.

He's Driving His Cares Away!

There's a great industrialist in Detroit, and a well-known scientist in New York, and a famous statesman in Washington who will tell you that the best way to relax from the cares of the day is to get behind the wheel of a 1953 Cadillac.

And there are also thousands upon thousands of other Cadillac owners throughout America who will gladly add supporting testimony to these revealing statements.

For these motorists know, from their own personal experience, that there is no faster or surer way to relax and refresh than to take to the highway with a smooth, comfortable, quiet Cadillac car.

It makes a man feel good just to sit behind the wheel. As he glances about his Cadillac's gracious interior, he's reminded that he has made something out of his years—and that, in itself, gives a lift to his spirits.

And then, once he's out on the highway—well, he's as happy and contented and trouble-free as it's possible for a motorist to be.

He is surrounded with comfort—and his driving is so relaxing and effortless and enjoyable that his mind clears, as the miles go by—and his heart grows gay and his outlook bright and hopeful.

He has literally driven his cares away!

You really ought to try it sometime. Come to think of it, you ought to try it today . . . after your day's work is done.

The car is waiting—and so are we.

whole thing by trying to provoke a war in Eastern Germany.

He said he was sending the Western commandants the confession of Werner Kalkowski, now a Soviet prisoner, in which the un-West Berliner allegedly said he was hired by an American officer last Wednesday "to kill Volkspolizei" (Eastern policemen).

Dibrova's note called the Western protest "an attempt by representatives of the three Western powers to dodge their responsibility for the criminal acts of the hired provocateurs of war who authored the violence."

Conceding that some persons — about 20 by unofficial report—had been "sternly punished," he said, "It is natural to ask you what the occupation authorities of the U.S.A., Britain and France would have done if provocateurs and agents from East Berlin were sent to West Berlin and there incited arson, murder and violence."

The Western Allies already have rejected suggestions that they had anything to do with the Eastern rebellion.

ORDER TO ALLIES

To the West's demand that 25,000 Soviet armored troops stop throttling East Berlin and allow free inter-sector circulation again, Dibrova imposed this condition:

The Allied commandants must "take all necessary measures to end the sending of provocateurs and other criminal elements into East Berlin."

The Russians kept their occupation force in the city at full strength and rigorously enforced curfew from 10 p.m. to 4 a.m. However, they gradually turned over machinegun and rifle outposts along the 27-mile border with West Berlin to Soviet-trained East German police-infantry.

How long the Russians and Allies would exchange angry notes before the city got back to four-power normalcy was anybody's guess. Western police predicted there would be no break until the jailing of riot suspects was completed.

Berlin's political grapevine carried the reports that Grotewohl's position was extremely shaky. They came direct from the conference rooms of the new Soviet high commissioner, Vladimir Semyenov.

LEADERS HUDDLE

Semyenov met for three hours yesterday with Deputy Premier Otto Nuschke, chairman of the Christian Democrats (CDU), and Dr. Herman Kastner, former head of the Liberal Democrats (LDP), who was put on the political shelf by the Communist bosses two years ago.

CDU and LDP circles leaked to party friends in the West the report that the Russians might dump the entire Socialist Unity (Communist) Party leadership, smash its power and prestige and build a new regime of conservatives who have at least a chance of winning some kind of public support.

Western quarters expressed the view that the first shot fired in Wednesday's blood bath amounted to an executioner's bullet for the repudiated Socialist Unity Party.

MOST VULNERABLE

As head man of the government and chairman of the party, renegade Socialist Grotewohl is the most vulnerable target for Soviet reprisal. Only a shade behind is Secretary-General Walter Ulbricht, the mainspring of all party decisions. Ulbricht's ruthlessness has made him the most thoroughly hated man in the East zone.

Two of West Berlin's biggest newspapers, Die Welt Am Sonntag and the Telegraf, declared without qualification that the Grotewohl regime will be dumped by the Russians, Fritz Selbman, Communist minister for heavy industry, has already been fired, according to rumor.

Empty Seats Tell Story of Red Rule

BERLIN, June 21—(INS). Five thousand empty seats at the all-German championship football match gave mute but eloquent testimony today to the troubles of East Berliners under Soviet rule after recent anti-Red riots.

The stadium seats had been purchased by East Berliners who were unable to make it, because of the new restrictions imposed by the Russians.

AF Generals Inspect Tito's Plane Bases

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, June 21 (AP)—Three United States Air Force generals dropped in here today—at the invitation of the Yugoslav government—to inspect possible use of this country's air bases in case of a Russian attack.

They are: Maj. Gen. Roger H. Ramey, chief of operations of the Air Force; Brig. Gen. Frederick Calhoun, program chief of the air section of the military assistance program under NATO, and Brig. Gen. John J. O'Hara of U. S. Air Force headquarters in Germany.

They came here to inspect—on paper at least—the use that Yugoslavia has been putting to the increasing delivery of American Air Force supplies, including some jet planes.

The trip here seemed to stem from both the plea of Vice Adm. John Cassady, chief of the U. S. Sixth Fleet during his visit here lst year, for closer co-operation, and from the increasing air supply delivery to this country.

French Repel Vietminh Attack

The attackers withdrew under heavy fire from the post and steady bombing and machinegunning by French planes.

Electricity-Tractor Courses Set for Georgia Teachers

Georgia teachers of vocational agriculture will begin a two-day series of in-service training courses on rural electrification and tractor maintenance Tuesday.

The teacher training department, University of Georgia, is assuming the leadership role in helping to plant the contents of each course, and the agricultural engineering division of the State College of Agriculture will provide two instructors who will devote full time for the next four weeks to teaching these courses.

The in-service training clinics are being sponsored by the division of agricultural education, state department of education.

According to T. G. Walters, state supervisor of agricultural education, "The instructors will not only deal with the problem of planning the farm wiring system but will also provide opportunities for each teacher of agriculture actually to learn some of the skills in connection with good wiring practices.

Technical training for the rural electrification clinic will be provided by Robert H. Brown, and for the tractor maintenance clinic by Leland O. Drew, both associate professors of agricultural engineering at the University of Georgia.

Brown will be assisted by field representatives of the Georgia Power Co. which is co-operating with the Department of Education in sponsoring the clinics. R. H. Tolbert, head of the teacher training department, and A. O. Duncan, subject matter specialist, University of Georgia, will act as leaders.

electrification clinic will be at Dallas, June 30-July 1-2-3, and the tractor maintenance clinic at Newnan July 14-15-16-17.

In southwest Georgia, the farm electrification clinic will be at Vienna, July 7-8-9-10, and tractor maintenance at Tifton, June 30-July 1-2-3.

Southeast Georgia rural electrification clinic will be held at Lyons, July 14-15-16-17, and the tractor maintenance clinic will be conducted at Louisville July 8-9-10-11.

With the exception of northeast Georgia, all clinics will be conducted at the high school departments of vocational agriculture.

ROSENBERGS' FUNERAL PROCESSION DRAWS CROWD OF 10,000

'Murder' Charged To President

Joseph Brainin, chairman of the Rosenberg committee, introduced the speakers in the one-hour service which began at 2:15 o'clock. Brainin has described his committee as "representing a cross-section of America." During one Rosenberg appeal Assistant U. S. Attorney James B. Kilsheimer III put on the court record the statement that the Rosenberg Committee "no more represents a cross-section of America than does the national committee of the Communist Party."

Block began to speak in a tone so low that he was almost inaudible. Then, with his voice rising to vehemence, he said:

"America should know, as the rest of the world knows, that America today is living under the heels of a military dictatorship dressed in civilian garb. These people have no hearts. They have stones for hearts. They have hard hearts, and they have hard eyes.

"Let the pen prostitutes and the voice of America know that the Rosenbergs were not executed according to law. A Supreme Court justice said the court had not read the record in this case; was that 'due process of law'?

"The last paragraph of Justice Jackson's opinion suggested to the President that it was neither advisable nor wise to kill these people. The three dissenting justices were outraged. The entire court was stating to the President: 'Do not commit this barbaric act.'

"I place the murder of the Rosenbergs at the door of President Eisenhower, Mr. Brownell and J. Edgar Hoover. They did not pull the switch, true, but they directed the one who did pull the switch. This was not the American tradition, not American justice and not American fair play. This was naziism that killed the Rosenbergs, and if we forget that lesson we will cringe, we'll live on our knees and we will be afraid. Insanity, irrationality, barbarism and murder seems to be part of the feeling of those who rule us."

Clark Flies To Korea; Showdown Brewing

An official announcement said there was no violence on Cheju, but that the prisoners waved Nationalist Chinese flags and demanded the release of all non-Communist prisoners of war.

The Chinese refused to halt their demonstration until security guards entered the compound, the announcement said.

TROUBLESHOOTERS ARRIVE

Clark, meanwhile, had ordered a crack American regiment from Japan to Korea to muscle up his campaign against the South Korean revolt which has threatened to wreck an armistice agreement.

Paratroopers of the 187th Regimental Combat Team — troubleshooters of the bloody Koje prison camp upheaval a year ago—flew to Seoul. As fast as they filed smartly from their planes, they loaded their gear into a caravan of new trucks, destination secret.

CHARGES HE LIED

The Peiping Radio said Clark "lied" when he notified the Communists that the Americans had tried to prevent the mass breaks of North Korean prisoners, escaping from their stockades with South Korean help.

Stepping up Red protests against the continuing flight of prisoners from the camps, the official voice of Red China charged that Allied authorities, far from trying to halt the breakouts, had been "encouraging Rhee to carry on his desperado activities."

DULLES' AIDE TO LEAVE

Assistant Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson leaves Washington Monday on a mission to Korea in a top-level effort to get Rhee to agree to armistice terms.

With the war entering its fourth year this week, Robertson will represent personally President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles in the drive to force Rhee into line. Robertson is assistant secretary for Far Eastern affairs.

The biggest break Sunday morning involved the flight of 214 prisoners from the Sang Mudai camp near the South Korean Army training center at Kwangju.

The Allied prisoner of war command at first reported that tanks and trucks of the South Korean Army assisted in the break. Later the report was reversed.

New British Jack the Ripper Expected To Plead Insanity

Christie, a dome-headed man of medium height whose horn-rimmed glasses give him an owlish appearance, has confessed strangling four women and hiding the bodies within the walls and under the flooring of a slum tenement in London's gloomy Notting Hill.

Four other bodies—including that of a mother and baby daughter for whose deaths another man was hanged—have been found since 1949 in the same house or buried in its tiny backyard garden.

Christie is charged with only one murder—the strangulation of his wife Ethel, 54, last December. He told police who arrested him after the greatest manhunt in British history that he "put her to sleep" when she had a choking fit in bed.

He said he choked his other victims—young women of somewhat dubious morals—because they infuriated him by forcing their sexual attentions on him.

As required by British law, Christie had pleaded innocent. But it is apparent that his lawyers will acknowledge that Christie murdered his wife and ask that he be saved from the gallows on grounds of insanity.

'Mary, Quite Contrary' Has Books Row on Row

By YOLANDE GWIN

"Mary, Mary, quite contrary, how does your garden grow? With silver bells and cockle shells and books row on row."

This is the version of the famous nursery rhyme which Miss Eunice Coston, group service consultant at the Atlanta Public Library, has used on the cover of her annual catalogue for garden books.

Adding a humorous touch, the figures for illustration are upside down. Mary was quite contrary, remember?

"I have listed only the newest books," she said the other day, "and they range from the latest in flower arrangements to those for specific plants. The collection seems to grow like Topsy, however, and the rows of garden books are growing almost as fast as the rows of flowers in Atlanta gardens."

Miss Coston is actually an answer to a gardener's prayer for she can supply a member of the library with the proper book about anything along a horticultural line, at the turn of a leaf. Garden clubs depend a great deal on her annual book list, which she begins to compile in the late winter for spring and summer circulation. She says that the best season for garden-book borrowing is in the winter and spring, but adds that "anytime is a good time to read a book."

Selecting the garden books is just one of the varied duties of this popular library worker whose lists provide the best and latest reading guide.

"Just because certain books are listed on my catalogue doesn't mean that they are the only ones on our shelves," she said. "In fact we have some which were new at the turn of the century. These and the new ones, too, provide an outlet for an inexhaustible supply of gardening knowledge. My catalogues are available to any club or individual interested."

Miss Coston has her finger on the reading pulse of Atlanta regardless of their "symptoms." Before very long she will be packing her bags for a European jaunt. But not before she can make plans for the care of her "garden." It is one cactus plant which she tends in her apartment.

Career Girls

Miss Ivy's First Job 'Swell'

DOTTY LUNDY

With two more quarters to go before she gets her B.B.A., degree in business education, Margaret Ivy landed a clerical job a few weeks ago which still leaves time for her schooling.

"Everything's swell," reports Margaret, blonde stenographer for Recordak Corporation, a division of Eastman Kodak. I work from 8 to 5 and get out in plenty of time to catch a 5:15 class at the Atlanta Division."

COMMUTES TO CITY

Margaret lives with her family in Norcross, commuting to Atlanta each day. After attending State College for Women for a year she transferred to the Atlanta Division, University of Georgia.

"Between quarters, I just answered an ad in the paper, got an interview and was hired on the spot at $49.50 per week, which is certainly good for my first job." Margaret does typing, filing and general office work. "Of course I was a little scared at first, but everybody was so friendly I soon got over it."

Outside school and the job, Margaret is soloist at the Norcross Presbyterian Church. She plans to sing soprano with the Atlanta Pops Chorus this summer. She also plays the piano and trombone. "Makes noise, anyhow," she laughs. At college she is active in Delta Alpha Delta sorority.

WANTS TO TEACH

Since her college course is set up with the goal of teaching commercial courses in high school, Margaret thinks she might like to teach eventually. "But not any time soon; I like it too well here," declares this young business woman.

"I'm strictly a career girl for the present," says Margaret. "No, I can't think of a thing I don't like about my job. We even have a room equipped with a hot plate, if we want to bring our lunches.

Bright Seersucker Separates Offer Countless Combinations

By AGNES McCARTY

Halters, skirts, shorts, pedal-pushers and blouses that can be co-ordinated in countless combinations go with summer sun like shadow-proof petticoats.

Now being featured in Atlanta is a group of fine seersucker separates that take a girl from patio breakfast to patio dance—with ensembles for beach and luncheons between.

Shorts, zipping in front, and edged with tassled fringe on braid embroidery, have flattering pleats strategically placed. Cost is $5.98. Matching pedal pushers, also front-zipped, are priced at $7.98.

Pleated skirt matches shorts and costs $10.98. With either skirt, shorts or pedal pushers, you may wear a strapless bodice priced at $5.98 or a sleeveless blouse that can be bought for the same price.

Are you a one-piece dress fan? Sundress of striped seersucker carries a price tag of $14.98. It's halter-necked and also trimmed with braid and fringed tassles.

Seersucker co-ordinates come in blue, gray or pink stripes on white. For shopping information, call WA. 5050, ext. 397.

RC Sewing Rooms Close for Summer

Sewing and knitting rooms of the Greater Atlanta Chapter, American Red Cross, will close July 1 for the summer months, Mrs. Clarence Ruse and Mrs. Herman Haas, chairmen, announce.

They will open again for fall work Sept. 1.

Mrs. Hart Elected Head Of USD 1812

Mrs. John Freeman Hart of Macon will head the U. S. Daughters of 1812 for the coming year following recent elections in Atlanta.

The new slate includes: Mrs. Parks Lee Hay, Macon, and Mrs. J. R. Hampton, Clarkesville, vice presidents; Mrs. Kibry-Smith Anderson, Madison, chaplain; Mrs. John Lawrence McCord, Atlanta, recording secretary; Miss Lilien R. Tidwell, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ralph Milton Jones, Griffin, treasurer; Mrs. Luther Bloodworth, Macon, registrar; Mrs. John Crane Peteet, Decatur, historian; Mrs. W. L. Jessup, Eastman, curator; Mrs. Walter Elmo Duke, Atlanta, auditor, and Mrs. Howard H. McCall Sr., Atlanta, parliamentarian.

Different Food Pattern Necessary

When a family of overweights numbers in the millions, it's plain to be seen that no one reducing diet could possibly suit the tastes and temperaments of all. So, if you've repeatedly tried to reduce but failed to stay on a diet because of physical hunger—it's time to try another plan of eating.

The emphasis today is not on dieting, but on eating by a food pattern designed to safeguard health and control hunger as well as calories. That's where protein and fats come into the picture.

FURTHER SATIETY

Fats give further satiety to the diet. They are slow to digest . . . and slow down absorption of food while doling out the energy at an even rate. All of this adds up to a feeling of contentment for you, the dieter.

It used to be that fats were trimmed to the bone in reducing diets and on the calorie score, it's easy to see why. Fats contribute more fuel than any other food.

LATEST RESEARCH

Now, however, the latest nutrition research shows the desirability of leaving some fat in the low-calorie diet—normal amounts of butter, whole milk and a little meat fat. To curb calories, almost all sugars and starches are deleted. And here's one secret of this normal fat diet. By cutting out the hot breads, biscuits, and other carriers for butter, table fats are automatically restricted. You're not likely to eat excess butter without something to spread it on.

From the standpoint of weight control, a normal fat diet is all to the good since it resembles the everyday pattern of eating and boosts the protein to give satiety. On such a diet, you feel well fed, not deprived; so you do not resent calorie restriction.

Dr., Mrs. Jack To Entertain

Those former Atlantans, Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Jack of Lynchburg, Va., who arrived last week to visit their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Hurt, will hold open house this evening in compliment to members of the Theodore Jack Historical Association.

The affair will be held at the Hurt home at 1231 Clifton Road, with the calling hours from 8 to 10 o'clock.

The Jack Historical Association was organized by former students of Dr. Jack at Emory University, and a number of Atlanta teachers and students for the purpose of historical research.

Mrs. Cortez Suttles To Entertain

Mrs. Cortez Suttles of College Park will entertain at luncheon Tuesday at the Paradise Room of the Henry Grady Hotel in compliment to Mrs. Charles Daniel of College Park.

National Magazines Reflect Local Culture

Atlantans' bylines continue to appear in national magazines, thus reflecting credit on their native city, especially when they write on cultural subjects as they did in June.

Marguerite Bartholomew has a full-page story on music in Atlanta appearing in the current issue of "Musical Courier." And in "Newsletter," house organ of American Symphony Orchestra Leagues, Inc., there is an article by Helen M. Thompson, executive secretary of the organization, dealing with musical education through young people's concerts, in which she quotes from the report made by Mrs. Lon Grove, as president of the Women's Symphony Committee, at the meeting of the National Association of Symphony Committees held in Houston, Texas.

"The Reporter," national advertising magazine, not only carries a cover photo of Emory University's Richard Joel, but there is also a two-page story about him by Henry Hoke, called "Salute to a Crusader for Advertising Education."

THOSE FORMER ATLANTANS, Mr. and Mrs. Lawson Yow, and their small daughter, Lucile, of Greensboro, N. C., arrive today to attend the marriage of Mrs. Yow's sister, Miss Martha Sibley, to Byron George of Brooklyn, N. Y., on June 27. Little Miss Yow will be a flower girl in the wedding.

OTHER FORMER ATLANTANS returning this week are Dr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson Jr., who arrive Thursday from Cleveland,

LUNCHEON MEAT DINNER FOR BUSY DAYS

By JEANNE HIGGINS

A can on the pantry shelf may be your friend, indeed, on busy days or in an emergency. When baked or roasted and served with vegetables or a salad, a single can of luncheon meat will often make a meal for two or three, or more.

There's flavor variety a plenty these days, too. You'll find shelves stocked with beef and pork in plain or smoked flavor all set for cold slices or hot dishes.

FUN WITH FOODS

TASTY LUNCH

1. Cut one can of hickory smoked luncheon meat in six slices and place in shallow pan. 2. Top each slice crosswise with a strip of bacon. 3. Cut two firm, fresh tomatoes in half with shredded cheese. 4. Pop into broiler for about fifteen minutes, or until heated through.

BEEF DINNER

1. Score the top of 1 can of luncheon beef. 2. Glaze with one-fourth cup chili sauce and one-fourth cup brown sugar. 3. Place the glazed loaf in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) to heat for 30 minutes. The glaze will be more attractive if a second coat is applied during the baking. 4. At dinnertime, place the hot loaf in center of platter. 5. Surround with four hot fluffy mashed potato nests fashioned with a fork.

Celestine Sibley

Betrayed by A 14-Year-Old

Well, perhaps I was a little smug about it.

He's 14, I said to everybody, and simply the most relaxing member of the family. No fuss or bother about a 14-year-old boy, I said. He has his own interests, his own private pursuits and he can take a mother or leave her alone—giving the edge, if any, to leaving her alone.

Clothes don't worry him so there's none of the business of hanging over the ironing board pressing ruffles and digging up hair ribbons. He'll settle for clean jeans and a T-shirt or dirty ones.

Food is no trouble—just so it's where he can get at it. He can eat hamburgers three times a day and is amiable about fixing them himself. Confidences and conversation bore him because he usually has good friends sprawled out in his room waiting for him to help them settle some pressing problem, such as, is Hitler really dead or is he flourishing in a hideaway in Little America like it says in the Police Gazette?

He never calls you up on the phone to say plaintively, "Well, Mother, what can I DO-O?" because he's afraid you'll think of something which he will not want to do. Any piece of busy-work you assign him is as lasting as the old country trick of pouring syrup on a baby's fingers and giving him a handful of feathers to pull from one hand to the other. He never quite gets the leaves raked up before the wind scatters them. He never gets all the grass cut before it needs it again.

So it seemed to me that with the girls summering in Florida with their grandmother and only one child left to my name, I was in for a restful month or so.

At least that's what I kept telling everybody.

Then I went home and he greeted me from the living room rug where he was surrounded by eight volumes from the encyclopedia, looking gratifyingly studious, I thought.

"Mama, don't go in the kitchen," he said.

"Why not?" I inquired, thinking longingly of a pitcher of ice water.

"It might blow up," he said casually.

"Blow up!" I yelped. "What are you talking about?"

"Well, I made me a still," he said. "Just like a whisky still, only I haven't got any whisky yet. I'm just working with water in the experimental stage. But I'm not sure it won't blow up yet."

I galloped to the kitchen without even bothering to kick off my shoes first and he followed me at a distance.

There on the stove was an old coffee can boiling away at a great rate and from it ran a Rube Goldberg-looking aluminum coil, patched here and there with black friction tape. At the end of the coil was a teacup, catching an occasional drop of water.

"You see, Mama, it's distilled water," he said proudly. "Would you like to try some?"

I backed away and he followed me, explaining happily how he had made himself a "worm" and had a funnel all set to catch the product of his still. He had learned all about it in the encyclopedia. The only trouble was that water was a little tame to work with. Did I think we could afford a bottle of wine so he could make us some first-rate brandy?

"Brandy?" I said dazedly.

"Yes'm," he said. "You never know when somebody will faint around here and what would you do? You always have to have brandy when somebody faints."

I started to say I had never fainted in my life but then I looked at the contraption in the middle of my kitchen stove and reconsidered. This may be the very summer I take up fainting.

Epstein, Levy Altar Vows Said

MRS. WILLIAM H. BLACK

At an evening ceremony solemnized Sunday at the Mayfair Club, Miss Anita Elaine Epstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Epstein, became the bride of Neilan Bert Levy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Levy. A dinner followed the nuptials.

Rabbi Harry Epstein was the officiant. Jarvin Levison was best man and William Epstein, Sidney Marcus, Lawrence Cohn, Max Klenberg, Arnold Levison and Bennett Oxman were groomsmen.

Ushering were Ronald Epstein, Alvin Miller, Alan Huvard, Harold Hillman, Ronald Prince and James Kann.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Jerome Mendel as matron of honor, Mrs. Marshall Nerenbaum, Mrs. Merton Levin, Misses Beverly Smith, Norma Russ, Myra Epstein and Betty Ann Levin as bridesmaids.

Miss Arlene Smith and Miss Myrna Handmacher kept the bride's book.

Mrs. Black was before her marriage on Friday at Trinity Church, Princeton, N. J., Miss Nancy Carson Cowles, daughter of Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Miles A. Cowles of Princeton. Mr. Black is the son of those former Atlantans, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene R. Black of Washington, D. C.

'FINEST REPLATING'

Simmons Plating Works Insures Your Silverware

When you leave your silverware at the Simmons Plating Works on South Pryor St.—or maybe you have what you regard a precious and valuable antique of some kind—just remember, every piece of such valuables is fully insured by the Simmons Company against any loss by the owner, and that protection is in force until the article is returned to you.

With that sort of satisfaction in your mind—and with the knowledge that any job of any kind of work entrusted to them is fully guaranteed to your satisfaction—then you can set your mind at rest on these two important things when you need repairs or refinishing on any of your silverware. A satisfied mind is worthwhile when you entrust valuables to a concern—but with the Simmons firm there's nothing to worry about.

Does your silverware look a little worn or dented—does not have that bright silvery look? Or do you need some parts to replace what has disappeared in the years you have cherished perhaps a beautiful piece of silverware?

These are questions easily and simply answered. Just remember, that the Simmons Plating Works, 219 Pryor St., S. W., has always made a specialty of and maintained a department for making silverware parts which may have been broken or lost from any article. This department turns out a steady stream of handles, spouts, bases, lids and other parts to replace any of the missing parts to articles in your home.

You pay only reasonable prices and get a guaranteed satisfactory job when you patronize this old and reliable concern that has definitely reached a top place in the leading plating concerns of the nation. Phone them at CY. 8646 and let them send a representative to your place of business or home and let them quote you a price for such work as you may desire to have done. There will be no obligation on your part. Pick-up and delivery service throughout the city and area is maintained by this old and well-established concern.

IT'S A KILLER—Just brush Johnston's No-Roach on kitchen cabinets, baseboards, near stove and refrigerator. Insects walk across the invisible coating, become paralyzed and die—and No-Roach stays effective for months. Get it at Rich's Housewares department.

ON SALE AT RICH'S

New Brush-On Liquid Kills Roaches and Ants

The housewife's most hated enemy is the cockroach. These crawling insects defy even the cleanest, best-kept homes. They'll enter through the smallest crack or crevice, hide in the woodwork, and roam the house at night, creating dirt and mess. To be rid of them, women have tried every trick in the book, without success. Now, at last, modern science has discovered a new way to kill roaches, with a product called Johnston's NO-ROACH.

Roaches and ants, pests that they are, are usually found near food and cooking utensils where you should not use bombs or sprays. And no need to either, when you can brush Johnston's NO-ROACH just where you want it, around cabinets and sink or wherever these bugs are found.

Johnston's NO-ROACH is colorless, odorless, and stainless. Insects that walk across the invisible coating become paralyzed and die within three hours. Then the coating remains effective for months to prevent re-infestation and keep your home free of crawling insects all season long.

If you brush Johnston's NO-ROACH across window sills and door sills, ants will not cross them. You may also control silverfish, water-bugs, household spiders and any other crawling insects with NO-ROACH.

One important point to remember: NO-ROACH is a unique formula, made only by Johnston. It cannot be duplicated. For truly effective control use genuine Johnston's NO-ROACH. 8 oz. 89c; pt. $1.69; qt. $2.98.

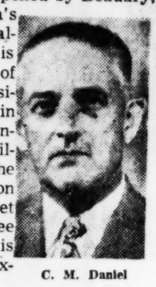
Convenient Lot Features Wide Choice of Cars

A new all-paved brilliantly lighted used car and truck lot has just been opened by Beaudry, Inc., Atlanta's oldest Ford Dealer. The lot is located in one of the most accessible spots in downtown Atlanta at 360 Williams Street. The lot also opens on Alexander Street and Peachtree Place and is right on the Expressway.



C. M. Daniel

Announcement of the opening of the new one-acre lot was made by C. M. Daniel, President of Beaudry, Inc.

Heralding the opening, Mr. Daniel stated, "Beaudry is now offering Atlanta's car and truck buyers the most convenient spot to transact business in the city. Our new lot can be approached from either Alexander St., West Peachtree Place, or Williams St., N. W. Expressway itself; and its cleaned, paved surface and bright lighting permits both men and women to examine our cars day or night without soiling their shoes and clothing. And, of course, as always, Beaudry's 37 years of service to its customers stands behind every sale. Our used cars and trucks are certified as A-1 in quality and are fully guaranteed by this reliable firm."

Open from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m. Monday through Saturday, the new Beaudry lot is under the supervision of E. M. Holman, Used Car Manager, and R. S. Walters, Used Truck Manager. In addition, M. H. Sneed, Vice-President and Sales Manager, and A. L. Defoor, Vice-President and Truck Division Manager, give personal attention to the continued supply above-average used cars and trucks to this location. These reliable men are on the lot every week day to serve Atlantans: Jack O'Neil Camp, M. Lamar Cochran, William C. Crockett, John O. Bender, John Ivan Born, Ray E. Holcombe, Daniel F. Poarch and A. L. Wallace.

In describing the cars now available from the new Beaudry lot, M. H. Sneed, Vice-President and Sales Manager, stated, "Most of the cars offered by Beaudry on its new Williams Street lot are traded in by original owners for new cars. They are in excellent condition and are outstanding values. Additional cars are purchased however, to give prospects a wider choice of models. About 100 high-quality used cars and trucks await your inspection on the lot at all times."

All cars are sold on convenient budget terms, with small monthly payments over periods up to 24 months.

In addition to being Atlanta's oldest Ford dealer, Beaudry is one of the city's largest used car dealers. "Over $1,600,000 in used cars and trucks were sold by Beaudry last year," said Mr. Daniel, "our satisfied customers number in the thousands. Stop by soon and see our new lot at 360 Williams Street on the Expressway, then see and try our outstanding used car and truck bargains. No obligation. Courteous service is a habit at Beaudry's."

BATES TIE WITH WIRE METHOD—W. C. Caye & Co. features the unique Bates "tie with wire" method, which speeds up packaging, protects products or equipment with a more secure closure, or tie. Special wire ties can be manufactured to order. Call MAin 2177 for details.

W. C. Caye's Bates Method Versatile, Widely Used

Wire Tying Is Quick, Secure, Economical

Business after business has found a new and easier way to handle tying jobs with the Bates Method—wire tying. The method is extremely simple, and it assures a better, and more uniformly tied package at lower cost.

Not only does the Bates Wire Tying Method streamline packaging, but it assures a more secure closure or tie. It picks up where rope, cord, and other weaker ties leave off. And because wire is stronger and the Bates Method is so simple, better tying results are obtained at once in a business or plant. The change-over is generally handled without more than a few minutes instruction on the method.

W. C. Caye Jr., vice-president of W. C. Caye & Co., today said, "The Bates Method is in wide use already. It ties bags of almost every description—paper, textile, plastic. Ties bundles of pipe, brake rods, steel, flooring, shovel handles. Keeps coils of wire and cable together. Ties down moving parts of equipment in shipment. Effectively closes ends of tube-wrapped products. Ties fence to posts, bar sections in concrete construction, nursery stock, bundles of automotive and implement parts. And has hundreds of other uses." Continuing, Mr. Caye said, "There are wire ties for almost every purpose, to fit almost every need. W. C. Caye & Co. stocks loop end wire ties in lengths 2½ to 48 inches. Our stock of wire guages takes in the range from as light as 21 to as heavy as 12."

Various kinds of wire, all specially annealed, are available, including coppered, lime bright, galvanized, and solid copper. Although 5/16 and ⅜ inches are considered standard loop sizes, special ties can be manufactured to order. These would include ties with larger or smaller loops, or a loop on one end only, or a different size loop on each end.

Users have already found that much time and money can be saved by giving equipment or products better packing security with the Bates Method of wire tying. Perhaps your plant or business can use this new, modern method, too. If so, W. C. Caye & Co. can supply you with tie wires, and "Ty-Tite" Twisters. Also supply dead-lock tag fasteners, double loop safety tag wires, florist wire, loop end wire milk can ties. Phone, write, or call in person for details.

W. C. Caye & Co., located at 787 Windsor St., S. W., also distribute the Pitman Hydra-Lift, Buck Portable Heavy-Duty hoist, products of Allis-Chalmers, Baker Mfg. Co., Gar Wood Industries, Kwik-Mix, Smith Engineering Works, Jay Mfg. Co., White Mfg. Rumbold & Co. Distributor for Permaglas Units

Have you ever had the sad and unfortunate experience of having your water heater tank rust out?

If this has happened to you, then you're not alone, for records reveal the amazing fact that from 300 to 400 water heaters fail every month in Georgia because of tanks rusting out. And it's a serious problem, because, as any housewife knows, clean, hot water is practically indispensable to modern living.

"But there's no need for despair," states a special announcement today from Allan H. Rumbold of Rumbold & Co., Inc., recently appointed exclusive wholesale distributors for Georgia for all the products of the Permaglas Heating Division of A. O. Smith Corp. "Corrosion, rusty water and tank failure can be stopped only by a water heater tank that is rust-resistant.

"You can be safe from rust with the A. O. Smith Permaglas automatic water heater that cannot rust — because glass can't rust."

The history behind the development of the famous Permaglas water heater is an interesting one. Years of exhaustive research and experimentation by A. O. Smith Corp. engineers finally resulted in a special glass coating expressly for water heater use . . . an intensely tough glass that could be permanently and inseparably fused to steel at furnace temperatures of 1,600 degrees Fahrenheit. It resisted impact to the point where the heaviest mallet blows didn't harm it.

Having discovered how to eliminate rust completely and permanently, A. O. Smith engineers next began the job of translating these findings into the design of actual production of water heaters.

The result was exclusive Four B. I. protection, incorporating four basic improvements in water heater design and construction, that provide positive, permanent protection against rust and corrosion.

Mr. Rumbold's announcement also stated that Permaglas water heaters are available in sizes from 20 to 75 gallons in all gas types, as well as electric water heaters in sizes from 30 to 80-gallon capacity. Either gas or electric models are available from your dealer.

Rumbold & Co., Inc., are exclusive distributors in the state for all the products of the Permaglas Heating Division of A. O. Smith Corp. This includes, in addition to the Permaglas water heater, the A. O. Smith-Burkay commercial water heater, as well as Magic-Heet furnaces, boilers and conversion burners.

The Rumbold staff is now holding a series of sales meetings throughout Georgia to explain features of the Permaglas heaters to dealers and sales personnel. Plans call for a continuing merchandising campaign to show consumers the many superior features of Permaglas water heaters. Dealers interested in the Permaglas water heater should contact Rumbold & Co., 379-381 Nelson St., S. W. (LAmar 3652-3-4), Atlanta.

For the name of your nearest Permaglas merchant, if he is unknown, call or write Rumbold & Co., Inc., address and telephone number above.

High Weevil Counts Found in Some Fields

With all signs pointing to a bad boll weevil year in the Southeastern states, cotton industry spokesmen remind that poisoning the pests at the right time and the right place is one secret of success.

Surveys have shown a high survival for the boll weevil through the winter months. In some sections, the first of this year's crop of weevils is hatching out.

To show the extent of the infestation, take Georgia for example. E. C. Westbrook, cotton specialist for the Extension Service at the University of Georgia, said examinations of unpoisoned fields in north Georgia last week showed from 70 to 90 per cent of the squares stung or punctured.

Farmers with questions would be wise to consult local specialists in insect control, such as their county agents, since conditions will vary from place to place.

But the National Cotton Council has some general suggestions that will help in the fight against cotton insects.

One important thing, the council says, is to check fields often and thoroughly. This way, the farmer can apply poison only where and when needed. That means the greatest return on the dollars invested in insecticides and it also gives the grower flexibility — making possible a shift to meet an emergency should some anticipated pest become serious.

The boll weevil prefers to feed in the bud of the plants or on young squares near the terminals of the branches.

Proper handling of spraying or dusting machines is essential in order to get insecticides on the part of the plant where it can get the job done.

1. Dusts applied in high winds.
2. Insecticide may be allowed to get too low in the hopper so that the rate of flow is uneven.
3. Discharge outlets improperly adjusted or set.
4. Fenders not used on tractors in treating large plants.
5. Duster units being used to treat more acres than they are capable of treating.
6. Machines improperly cared for, resulting in bent booms, broken hoses, faulty agitators, belts slipping.

3-Way Crash Injures Trio; 2 Arrested

Three persons were slightly injured Sunday when an automobile struck the rear of a vehicle stopped in a traffic lane on Stewart Ave., S. W., knocking it into the rear of a third car, police said.

Driver of the first car, William N. Kingston of 410 Lee St., S. W., was charged with following too close-accident and leaving the scene, records showed. Kingston was arrested four hours later at a Lee St. address, police said.

Don Charles Brock, 28, of 468 Ashby St., S. W., listed as owner of the car driven by Kingston, was charged with being drunk in an automobile. Brock received lacerations to the face in the accident.

Also injured in the mishap were Gladys Ashley Rampley, 39, driver of the second car, of 1745 Avarado Ter., S. W., neck and back injuries, and Mary Peterson Pinder, 57, of Miami, leg and neck injuries, a passenger.

Neither Mrs. Rampley or the driver of the third car, Thomas Judson Farlow, 38, of 40 Avery Dr., S. W., were charged.

Also injured in traffic accidents Sunday were:

Gracie Mae Curry, 31, of 161 Chunning Way, Decatur, shoulder injury; Ruby Jones of 273 Robbins St., Decatur, stomach injury; Eddie B. Stinson, 40, of 875 Hobson St., S. W., cut on forehead, and Annie L. Careron, 34, of 442 Chestnut St., N. W., leg injury.

The Parking Meter Rocks Third Avenue

By ROBERT SYLVESTER
Pinchhitting for Ed Sullivan Who Is on Vacation

NEW YORK, June 21—The parking meter may be the answering to all our traffic problems, as some folks think, but it already has loused up Third Avenue. With the last elevated train still running over Third, and the el posts offering an added hazard, the meters have made the avenue practically impassable. First, the curb lanes on both sides are parked solid with meter parkers. Thus, the delivery trucks have to double in front of the saloons and stores. Inside the double-parked trucks are the el posts. And inside the posts, every now and then, is a nice long, fat bus. What was once a six lane avenue has been cut down to a two lane thoroughfare. Before the meters it was at least a four-laner.

This town's favorite rendezvous for speechless lovers is the Bickford's restaurant at 42d St. near Eighth Ave. Mutes always wind up their dates there and the cafeteria has some of the prettiest gals in town after any midnight.

On a recent Sunday, City College President Buell Gallagher arrived at the Dumont TV studios for his first television talk. He noticed the back of the set was stencilled "Sheen." Inquiring, he learned that the set had been used all season for Bishop Fulton Sheen's telecasts. It was, a stagehand explained, the Sheen set.

Tommy Noonan, who never got very far as a vaudeville and night club comic, is one of the new Hollywood discoveries, marries Marilyn Monroe in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" and is finally in the large loot class. Here en route to Europe he wouldn't stay anywhere but at the Sherry Netherlands Hotel. It's the hotel of his choice because, 20 years ago, his mother was a chambermaid there. Recently he wrote his ma on the hotel stationery.

"The chambermaid for my suite," he wrote, "is doing a lousy cleaning job, ma."

Social Security Funds Cut Opposed

By CHARLES F. BARRETT

WASHINGTON, June 21—(AP)—Key lawmakers raised strong doubts today that Congress will approve President Eisenhower's request to cancel a scheduled billion-dollar-plus increase in social security taxes.

Some Republicans and Democrats said they feared the President's plan would undermine the financial strength of the social security system aimed at providing retirement or death benefits for 60 million workers.

They added the administration itself now seems lukewarm and is not inclined to push hard for the proposal, advanced by Eisenhower in his special tax message to Congress on May 20.

Under current laws, employers and workers covered by social security each pay into the system 1½ per cent of payrolls up to $3,600 a year.

This payroll deduction tax is scheduled to jump automatically to 2 per cent on both workers and employers to a total of 4 per cent next Jan. 1.

Eisenhower, in his congressional message and in a radio broadcast to the nation, noted that the social security reserve fund now totals about 18 billion dollars. He said this seems adequate, since income workers "in simple justice" should be spared the scheduled increase.

Both Democrats and Republicans on the House Ways and Means Committee, the group that must start all tax bills through Congress, expressed concern over the President's plan.

REP. CURTIS OPPOSES

Rep. Curtis (R-Neb), chairman of a social security subcommittee, said "I'm inclined to think the increase should not be cancelled until or unless the administration develops more facts to justify it."

Curtis said several Republicans on the committee join in at least tentative opposition to Eisenhower's proposal. He added he has "serious doubts" whether the postponement will get out of the ways and means committee.

Several Democrats said they expect Democratic members to be almost solidly against it.

Rep. Kean (R-NJ), a strong Eisenhower backer who has differed sharply with Curtis on social security in the past, said in a separate interview that "certainly no facts have been presented so far to justify the postponement."

Kean, who is sponsoring several bills to extend social security coverage and liberalize benefits, said the proposal would weaken the financial soundness of the system.

"Unless we increase the taxes according to schedule," he added, "we're going to get in a position in the future where income will not be great enough to meet benefits."

Comparatively few persons receive the benefits now, but the number and size of payments will rise sharply as more and more persons covered by social security reach the retirement age of 65.

OUR NEGRO COMMUNITY

More Workers Wanted For United College Fund

By CLAUDE GEORGE SR.

A total of $6,557 has been raised in the Atlanta area for the United Negro College Fund, it has been announced by Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, campaign chairman for the Atlanta area.

Dr. Mays disclosed that 100 volunteer workers are needed in the campaign as he stressed the importance of reaching the goal of $45,000,000 throughout the nation. Of this amount $24,000,000 must be raised among the Negro communities.

He also pointed out that of the 31 colleges benefiting from the fund, six are in Atlanta. They are Atlanta University, Clark College, Gammon Theological Seminary, Morehouse College, Morris Brown College and Spelman College.

Dr. Mays, in appealing for support to the drive, said, "If these colleges are to continue their important educational services for so large a segment of the nation's Negro youth, they must have your help in meeting their yearly operating costs."

Dr. Mays was assisted at the meeting by Dr. Rufus E. Clement, president of Atlanta University; Dr. James P. Brawley, president of Clark College, and Dr. E. G. Mitchell, vice-president of Morris Brown College. The next meeting will be held at 12:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Day Nursery Crowded

Rush Memorial Congregational Church's day nursery registered 125 children last week, largest number in history, it was announced by the Rev. J. E. Garnett, pastor.

Mrs. Florence Sullivan serves as director, with three assistants. The nursery is open to all children of the community, regardless of denomination.

Children's Recital

The 19th annual recital of the Children's Music School, of which Gamewell Valentine is director, will be held at 8 p. m. Friday, June 26, at the Bethlehem Church of God. Admission is free.

Day Camps Opened

The annual summer camp program is now under way, with enrollments thus far: 200 at Butler Street YMCA camp, 190 at the Westside camp (Washington High School and Washington Park), and 75 at College Park.

Day camp features this year include swimming, hiking, outdoor sports, educational trips, worship, music, arts and crafts. Total enrollment is expected to reach 1,000 by July 23, closing date.

Dean Burney Speaks

Mrs. Phoebe Burney, dean of women at Clark College, was principal speaker at recent ceremonies marking the fourth anniversary of the Carrie B. Enzer Women's Auxiliary at the Metropolitan Association for the Blind. Mrs. Carrie Barge is president of the organization. More than 100 blind and sighted persons attended. Mrs. Edna Cooper is sponsor of the group.

Entire Patrol Ordered on Roads July 4

All members of the Georgia State Patrol, regardless of rank or duty, have been ordered to patrol the highways on the July 4 week end, Col. W. C. Dominy, director of the Department of Public Safety, announced.

Georgia's vehicle registration has passed the 1,000,000 mark—and a large percentage of those vehicles are expected to be on the road during the holiday period, Col. Dominy said.

Although every traffic officer in the state was on duty for the holiday last year, 12 persons died and 120 others were injured in 164 traffic accidents in Georgia.

In a preholiday statement, the Georgia State Patrol listed three main types of drivers:

1. Those who will do their best to obey all safety laws, rules and regulations (about 40 per cent).
2. Those who will obey the laws a large part of the time, mostly when an officer is around (about 40 per cent).
3. Those who are out to break all of the laws all of the time and have no regard for anyone else on the road (about 20 per cent).

KNOW YOUR GEORGIA By C. J. Holleran

The Fire Is Gone

In Atlanta's colorful past, cowboys definitely rated below the city firemen as the Number 1 hero in every little boy's life. In parades, the firemen's drum and bugle corps was the highlight of the occasion. The annual Firemen's Ball was a colorful affair —vivid uniforms, brass buttons and capes thrown jauntily across their shoulders—these boys were truly the pride of Atlanta. Life was not all play however, as conflagrations were numerous in those pre-fire proof days.

Beautiful horses charging at breakneck speed over the cobblestone streets of downtown Atlanta, the great steamer, (pumping engine) belching smoke and leaving a trail of red hot coals behind it presented an inspiring sight. The last of the superbly trained animals was retired to a life of ease in the lush pastures of the city farm in 1919. To call the horses to the barn, their caretaker would simply strike a gong and the old fellows would race madly to the sound, hoping to get into harness just once more before they went to wherever good firehorses go.

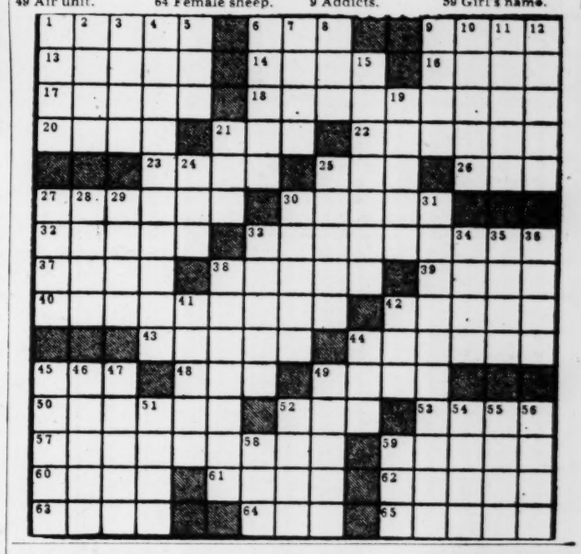
Solution to Saturday's Puzzle



HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VanDELLEN

Mankind, Vegetation Benefit by Sunlight

It is easy to understand why the ancients worshipped the sun. Old Sol feels good and is conducive to relexation. There are many healthful aspects to ultraviolet such as the oxidation of vitamin D, which is used to advantage by the body.

The effects of sunlight on the growth of trees, shrubbery, flowers and grass are well known. Vegetation grows best on the sunny side of the house and vegetables shoot up like weeds when the garden lot is out in the open.

We do not appreciate the stimulus on the growth and development of our children provided by ultraviolet because it is possible to prevent rickets by artificial means.

In the past this disease occurred in epidemic proportions because of insufficient exposure

It is ironical to think that boys and girls of a century ago had the same sun that we enjoy but were not allowed to receive its benefits. Nowadays, exposure is encouraged not only by the medical profession but by every organization interested in the welfare of mankind.

If anything, there is a tendency to go too far in the opposite direction so that the modern cry centers about the prevention of sunburn.

How does vitamin D behave in the growth and development of bones? Human skin contains a provitamin, the sterol 7-dehydrocholesterol. This substance is destined to become vitamin D but only if it is acted upon by ultraviolet. During exposure to the sun the necessary chemical reactions take place and the finished product, vitamin D, is absorbed by the blood and distributed throughout the system where it is needed most.

Only a small part of the body needs to be exposed to develop the amount of vitamin D required for health and it is not necessary to join a nudist colony with this thought in mind.

Furthermore, our modern scientists have discovered that certain foods such as fish oils are rich in vitamin D, hence it is not absolutely essential to take a daily ultraviolet treatment. But there is nothing like the sun bath and I doubt that more than one out of a hundred of our readers, if given the opportunity, would swap it for a tablespoon of codliver oil.

Goren on Bridge

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:

♠ Q J 9 5 ♥ K Q 10 7 ♦ K 9 5 ♣ 8 3

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
Pass	1 club	Pass	2 clubs

What do you bid now?

A.—Since you have passed a holding of 12 points, 11 in high cards and one for the doubleton, and can support any suit that partner might bid, it would be good policy to back in with a belated take-out double. There is a grave danger that the hand will be passed out at this point, and partner evidently holds some values and may be unable to take action if you continue silent.

Q. 2—As South you hold:

♠ ? ♥ A J 10 5 3 2 ♦ A Q 9 7 4 ♣ 8

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1 heart	2 clubs	?

What do you bid?

A.—You should first bid two diamonds to give yourself as much bidding space as possible, and no matter what partner responds, you should then employ the Blackwood convention, and partner's response to that will allow you to determine how far you will eventually go in the heart suit. If partner should respond with a raise to three diamonds and then subsequently show two aces in answer to your Blackwood bid, you may well be in a position reasonably to bid a grand slam. Our second choice for the first response would be an immediate Blackwood bid of four no trump.

Q. 3—As South you hold:

♠ — ♥ K 10 6 3 ♦ J 8 5 3 ♣ A 10 8 4 2

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1 spade	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A.—Two clubs. If the hand had held even a singleton spade, we would have preferred a response of one no trump. In view of the void suit, however, it is best to value the hand as it would be played at clubs. At that contract it totals 11 points, 8 in high cards and 3 for the void. This department tries to avoid making a negative response of one no trump with a void in partner's suit.

Q. 4—As South you hold:

♠ K J 10 9 6 5 ♥ 7 ♦ 8 6 4 3 ♣ 5 2

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three spades. This hand must play in your suit, and if partner continues to three no trump you must persist to four spades, but you should bid the suit at mild stages in order not to give the impression of great strength.

Q. 5—As South you hold:

♠ K Q 5 ♥ A Q 5 ♦ 4 ♣ K Q 10 7 6 4

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Double	Redble.	1 heart
Pass	3 spades	4 diamds.	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—In view of partner's very strong bidding, we recommend a cue bid of four hearts. If partner in turn should show the spade control, you would then rebid clubs and leave the final decision as to slam to partner. It is not sufficient to bid merely five clubs over four diamonds, for such a bid would have been made under pressure and would not show the excess values which your hand contains.

—o—

Q. 6—As South you hold:

♠ K 10 2 ♥ A Q J 7 4 ♦ 5 ♣ A K Q 8

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—With this hand you should insist upon a game contract, and the manner of doing it is to make a jump shift. The indicated call is therefore three clubs. An immediate jump in spades is not acceptable, inasmuch as you have only three trumps.

—o—

Q. 7—As South you hold:

♠ A 10 9 7 ♥ A Q J ♦ A Q 8 ♣ A 9 6

The biddnig has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
2 no trump	Pass	4 no trump	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. You must reject partner's invitation because your two no trump bid was minimum. Your actual count is 21, but possession of all the aces entitles you to add a point to the value of your holding. If anyone in the class treated the four no trump bid as a request for aces, stay after school and read the chapter on the Blackwood convention.

—o—

Q. 8—As South you hold:

♠ A K Q 3 2 ♥ A 9 5 4 2 ♦ 6 ♣ 7 4

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	2 clubs	Double	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—This is a close call. We are normally reluctant to leave in double of low contracts when we have an unnamed five card major, but our defensive values are so good that the penalty may be worthwhile. The deciding factor is the single diamond and the two clubs. If the minor suit holding were reversed, we would lean toward showing the hearts.

F. W. Barnett, Former IBM Manager, Dies

Constitution State News Service

WASHINGTON, Ga., June 21—Frank Willis Barnett, 63, former manager for International Business Machines Corp. in Atlanta, died Sunday night at his home in Washington.

Mr. Barnett was the son of the late Frank Willis Barnett and Naneline Jordan Barnett, both members of prominent Georgia families. His wife was the late Pauline Austin Barnett of Atlanta.

After the death of his wife a year ago, Mr. Barnett returned to Washington to live with his mother, who died several months ago.

Funeral services will be held at the graveside in Washington Monday, with the Rev. B. G. Munro officiating.

Repairman, Rescuer Die In Sealed Well

HYATTSVILLE, Md., June 21 (AP)—A man was suffocated while repairing a well at his High Bridge, Md., home today and a neighbor who went to his aid also was killed.

The victims were identified as Foy Edward Barley, 41, co-operator of the Barley-Hunt News Service, a press release agency in Washington, and Louis F. Kast, 51, a Naval gun factory worker.

Both lived in the Prince Georges County community of High Bridge.

Barley entered the 26-foot sealed well to make a minor repair. His daughter, Gloria, heard him fall into the water a few moments later.

Kast, who lives nearby, was summoned to aid the stricken man and lowered himself into the well on a rope. Suddenly he also splashed into the six feet of water at the bottom of the well.

Lt. James E. Wildman, assistant chief of the Bowie rescue squad, then arrived with his crew and was lowered into the airless shaft.

Half way down he fainted from lack of air and had to be hauled out.

Ex-Prof Weds Girl Who Cost Him His Job

AMBOY, Ill., June 21 (AP) — A courtship between a high school teacher and his pupil, which two years ago cost the teacher his job, ended happily at the altar today.

Stanley W. Gibson, 33, and Miss Joyce Underhile, 19, were married in a simple ceremony at Amboy's First Congressional Church.

The couple met when Miss Underhile was the only pupil in Gibson's English class at Amboy High School. He dated the girl—against the wishes of school authorities.

Given a 60-day dismissal notice, Gibson demanded public hearings at which the girl, her parents and some townspeople supported the teacher. The district school board then withdrew its dismissal notice and Gibson resigned.

Mental Patient Held After Burst On Son, Daughter

A 30-year-old Atlanta World War II veteran, on leave from a government mental hospital, kicked and stomped his five-year-old daughter and threw his four-year-old son off the back porch when he became angry, police said.

Det. J. L. Carney said the little girl had a deep blue bruise the shape of shoe heel on her side when treated at Grady Hospital. The son escaped with a large scratch on his shoulders, the officer said.

The mother of the children said her husband was notresponsible. "He's as sweet as he can be to his children when he's okay," she said.

Det. Carney said the father is being held at city jail and will be returned to the mental institution. He has a 100 per cent war disability pension, the detective said.
